Letter from the President

Brothers & Friends

What a great time it is for Phi Delta Theta. We are so blessed as an organization, and I am so very proud to be your 65th president.

Our recent convention in Las Vegas was a unique and exciting experience for everyone involved. Not only did we have record attendance at the event, we elected a new General Council, passed several pieces of important legislation and, perhaps most importantly, celebrated the success of our great Brotherhood in grand style.

Being elected president is the fulfillment of a longtime dream. Many of the men I admire most are past presidents of the Fraternity; men who I've had the long-time honor of knowing and working beside as volunteers. Having been a GHQ staff member turned volunteer has been a fun and challenging experience and I'm certain that this biennium holds a great deal of promise for Phi Delta Theta.

During my speech at Convention, I challenged the collective Phi Delt family to “swing a heavier bat.” Meaning, we all can—and should—dig in and do the little extras needed to maintain and grow our dominance in the fraternity world. We cannot rest on our past successes. I'm proud that the General Council, headquarters staff, volunteers and our amazing undergraduates are all swinging that heavier bat. I can see our efforts every day in some small ways and often in significant, large endeavors.

The General Council has been busy right out of the gate following Convention. At our retreat we revised our strategic plan, Phi Delt 2020, to reflect the ever-evolving dynamics that affect our undergraduates, volunteers, stakeholders and the General Fraternity as a whole. I'm proud of the work we accomplished.

I also wanted to take this opportunity to thank my family and the families of our volunteers. My service to Phi Delt would not be possible without the support and sacrifice of my amazing family. It's because of their selflessness—and the many other loved ones who sacrifice family time for us—that we are able to have the dedicated volunteer corps we have.

In this issue of the Scroll, you will find a great feature on Phis in aviation. While I hear the Wright Brothers couldn't get a bid from us (that's a joke...) and therefore we can't claim them, we do have a long and storied history of Brothers in the Bond who have left indelible marks on aviation. Our proud history of flying Phis includes commercial airline innovators, heroic military figures and everything in between. I know you'll enjoy this informative and interesting story.

As this biennium marches along, there will be challenges. I'm sure some of you have been following the disturbing media coverage involving Greek life—and in some cases—Phi Delta Theta in particular. Know this: we will always uphold our standards and expectations with diligence and resolute determination. We expect a lot from our members because we should. I'm most proud that we are willing to hold ourselves accountable to the principles set forth by our Founders. They are, after all, the ones who asked us to “swing a heavier” bat in a much more eloquent way via The Bond.

I'm supremely proud to serve each and every one of you.

Yours in the Bond,

The Study Abroad Advantage

Phis share their adventures

By: Allison Gnaegy, Communications Intern

It's no secret that studying abroad can be one of the most rewarding and beneficial experiences of one's undergraduate years. Students get the chance to experience the food, architecture, music and culture of a new country (or perhaps more than one), all the while earning course credit. So what could make that time abroad even better? Traveling with some of your fellow Phis, no doubt! On the next page, you can see a number of photos that Phis shared with us from their adventures.

In the spring of 2013, New York Epsilon (Syracuse) Phis Ryan Gould, Christian Bernlohr, Ron Schiltz, and Anthony Greco—all class of 2015—walked across Abbey Road while on a trip to London during their study abroad trip to Europe.

Florida Mu (Embry-Riddle) Phi Ryan Hilgers (right) studied abroad in Italy in the summer of 2013 where he met fellow Embry-Riddle student Joshua Teremae (left). After forging a friendship abroad, Teremae would become a Phikeia in the fall 2013 semester and earn his letters. Their relationship abroad would become a strong and lasting bond.

Business majors from Maryland Alpha (Maryland) Joseph Sera, Dan Ioana, Patrick Emad and Patrick Schubert studied abroad together in The United Arab Emirates in spring of 2014. The brothers were able to build professional networks by visiting sovereign wealth funds, and they were also able to strengthen their friendship and brotherhood. This photo was taken in the Dubai Desert.

Phis from Ohio Alpha (Miami) travelled to the Pacific Rim with the Miami University Farmer School of Business in the summer of 2014. Stephen Cahill, Turner Brown, Max Flannery, and Pete Mason posed with a man dressed in traditional Chinese attire. Brother Conrad Ulmer is not pictured but also attended the trip.

Joel McCrory (North Carolina Zeta) and Joe Sheehan (Nebraska Alpha) studying in London, England during the summer of 2014. Joel was taking an International Seminar on Drugs and Crime while Joe was studying the history of Shakespearian works. See the Tower Bridge photo taken in front of the Tower of London, with the Tower Bridge over the River Thames in the background.

Texas Sigma (Schreiner) brothers Blake Brouger and Eloy Rico travelled abroad together to Venice, Italy in the spring of 2013. ■

Chapter News

University of Akron

Ohio Epsilon

01 Working to defeat ALS is very important to the Ohio Epsilon Chapter at the University of Akron. As the primary cause that the chapter supports, the brothers have become increasingly passionate about Lou Gehrig's disease over the years. This fall, the brothers of Ohio Epsilon attended The ALS Association's Walk to Defeat ALS in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Youngstown and their home city of Akron.

The first of these walks was held in Pittsburgh. Nineteen Ohio Epsilon brothers traveled to Pittsburgh prior to the walk in order to help setup. The chapter also assisted with the tear-down of each event. The chapter's greatest turnout was the walk held in their home city of Akron, Ohio. Twenty-nine brothers volunteered at this event as they helped coordinate, setup, lead the walk and clean. The brothers of Ohio Epsilon could not think of a better way to start the school year than by working with The ALS Association!

Butler University

Indiana Gamma

02 The Indiana Gamma Chapter at Butler University helped spread awareness on their campus through the Stand Tall Project, which was started at Butler University and has asked students at Butler one question: "What would you say to a victim of sexual assault?"

Butler's Phi Deltas submitted several individual photos of brothers holding up boards with their answers to the question. The Stand Tall Project Facebook page posted a group photo taken from the steps of the "Castle on the Corner" with the following caption: The gentlemen of Phi Delta Theta encourage survivors to speak up. We hope that this support from the community will give survivors the support they need. Several members of the chapter hold positions on campus that serve to inform Butler students about sexual assault.

Colorado State University

Colorado Gamma

Eastern Washington University

Washington Epsilon

Fresh off winning Eastern Washington University's President's Cup (the highest award a student organization can win and the first IFC chapter to accomplish the feat) and a Silver Star at the General Convention, the men of Washington Epsilon achieved the highest all-fraternity GPA on campus with a 3.04 spring quarter—including 25 percent of the 36-man roster making Dean's List. This is the second-consecutive quarter Washington Epsilon has topped the fraternity GPA mark, and it continues to maintain the highest cumulative fraternity GPA with a 3.00.

Lehigh University

Pennsylvania Eta

04 Pennsylvania Eta received a Gold

accreditation rating from Lehigh University's Office of Fraternity and Sorority Affairs (OFSA). It was the chapter's first time going through the University's annual accreditation process since re-colonizing in 2013. Pennsylvania Eta was the only fraternity out of the University's 18 fraternities to receive OFSA's highest honor this year. Five sororities received the honor.

At Lehigh, all Greek organizations are subject to the annual accreditation process, which is a comprehensive review and assessment of all facets of chapter operations and is a key process in the development and maintenance of chapter standards, according to OFSA's website. In addition to submitting an extensive report, each chapter must deliver a forty minute presentation to a panel consisting of faculty, staff, students and alumni. After nearly two months of thorough review, the panel rates each chapter and gives feedback through reports.

The process is one that many students in Lehigh's Greek community take very seriously. For the majority of chapters, members typically begin preparing accreditation materials months in advance. The stakes for accreditation are certainly high, and if the panel does not look favorably upon a chapter, it is possible they could lose university recognition.

University of Mississippi

Mississippi Alpha

05 The men of Mississippi Alpha were recognized by the University for outstanding philanthropic achievement during the 2013–2014 school year.

Congratulations to Colorado Gamma for recruiting a 30-man Phikeia class, doubling the size of the chapter!

Pennsylvania Eta

In May, Mississippi Alpha hosted a campus and community-wide 5K to honor Ralph Doxey Jr., Mississippi State '03. Ralph's father is a 1972 alumnus of Mississippi Alpha.

Months of preparation went into the 5K race that would eventually lead to a day of honor and awareness for Ralph, his family and the Mississippi-Louisiana Chapter of The ALS Association. Hundreds of supporters and participants from different sororities, fraternities, and nearby towns gathered to show their support and to participate in the 5K held in the historic Grove at Ole Miss.

In the end, more than $20,000 was donated to The ALS Association in the name of Ralph Doxey Jr., to support local ALS patients including at home visits that the Mississippi-Louisiana Chapter of The ALS Association provides to those they lead and support.

Earlier in the year, members of Mississippi Alpha took part in the Ole Miss Big Event. Over 2,000 students participated in this day of service. Brothers of Mississippi Alpha enjoyed a day full of local community projects that consisted of visiting local homes for the elderly, painting storm shelters, restoring parts of local fire stations and building relationships with local community and university members.

William Kneip, the current philanthropy chair, was named the director of finance and fundraising for the Big Event in the Fall.

Members also took part in the Ole Miss Student Disability Association's "Rolling Rebels Wheelchair Basketball Tournament" to raise funds and awareness for students requiring disability services on campus.

Also, the brothers of Mississippi Alpha were recognized by the University for philanthropic funding and work with the Christian Relief Fund, an organization that works to provide clean water sources for families and children in Turkana, Kenya and other regions nearby.

The Phis of Mississippi Alpha would like to thank their alumni, brothers, families, and friends who have helped support their endeavors and helped them achieve their goals. Through these actions the brothers were able to grow together, learn together, and work for a cause greater than themselves and their chapter.

Finally, congratulations to Mississippi Alpha at the University of Mississippi for recruiting a 71-man Phikeia class!

Oregon State University Oregon Beta

An article, in the last edition of The Scroll, about the Be the Match program at Oregon State incorrectly stated Blair Fettig's school as Oklahoma State. Blair is a member of the Oregon Beta Chapter at Oregon State.

University of Texas Texas Beta

The Texas Beta Chapter at the University of Texas inducted 33 Phikeias this fall, marking another great recruitment semester for the chapter. Over half of the extended bids were accepted (33 out of 60), and of those accepted, two are legacies. Texas Beta, led this semester by Recruitment Chairman Brandon Lopez and his recruitment committee, continues to build a strong reputation with the growing recognition on campus and continued support of their alumni. The chapter looks forward to the day that they can call these men brothers, and they embrace the continued growth of Texas Beta.

Texas Christian University

Texas Zeta

Washington and Jefferson College

Pennsylvania Gamma

In May, the Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter at Washington & Jefferson College initiated 13 men into the chapter, bringing the membership to 43! The chapter also received an award for the Most Improved Chapter on campus. This award came after improving their philanthropy efforts by hosting an inaugural golf outing in the fall of 2013 and a Lou Gehrig Home Run Derby in the Spring of 2014. The golf outing raised over $1,000 and the Home Run Derby raised a little over $500 for ALS. Finally, the chapter has worked diligently with the college to pay down $30k+ of debt to a zero balance. ■

Michigan Alpha Celebrates 150 Years

Many Phi Delts return home during Homecoming weekend

During the 2014 Homecoming weekend, the Michigan Alpha Alumni Association and collegiate chapter jointly celebrated the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Phi Delta Theta Michigan Alpha Chapter at the University of Michigan (U of M). The 150th anniversary dinner which was held in a ballroom at the Michigan Union on October 31, 2014, a Friday night. The next day, the 2014 Homecoming open house barbecue was held at Michigan Alpha's historic, 111 year old residence not far from the center of campus.

During the anniversary dinner, alumni and guests were addressed by undergraduate leaders of the chapter, Alumni Association, and Phi Delta Theta General Headquarters Associate Executive Vice President Sean Wagner and General Council Member at Large Moe Stephens. Each highlighted the rich history and impressive accomplishments of the Fraternity on the U of M campus as well as across the nation.

At the barbecue on Saturday, alumni were invited to view historical displays, memorabilia and composite pictures. Many ventured to the second and third floors to visit their old rooms that were left open for the occasion.

Alumni Association 150th Anniversary Committee co-chair Greg Karmazin, '87, summarized the weekend, "The Alumni Association felt it was important to celebrate this major milestone, but most importantly, we wanted to firmly demonstrate to the undergraduate members that Phi Delta Theta can truly be a fraternity for life.

We also wanted them to better understand the tradition of excellence that they have been entrusted to carry on and improve. This knowledge should help them to transmit the fraternity in better shape to those who will follow after as the Pledge Oath challenges them to do." ■

Minnesota Beta Phis at the 2014 homecoming parade

Celebrating 50 Years On Campus

Minnesota State marks their anniversary with three events

At the 2014 homecoming at Minnesota State University, Mankato the brothers of Phi Delta Theta ( $\Phi\Delta\Theta$ ) kicked off its 50th anniversary celebration. Phi Delta Theta has been a landmark for the University. The chapter house houses 12 men and hosts numerous non-alcohol events throughout the school year, including a Mock House Party which helps educate students on the dangers of high-risk drinking.

On the day of the homecoming parade, the Fraternity rented a flatbed trailer to pull collegiate members and alumni along the homecoming parade route, highlighting the different eras of the Fraternity on campus. In addition, the Fraternity sponsored a local marching band lead them in the parade.

The Chapter's second 50th anniversary event was held in November, when Minnesota Beta alumni and collegiate members joined together to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Alpha Beta Mu receiving its charter from Phi Delta Theta Fraternity at a lovely dinner.

Dr. James Connors, '68, Bond # 66, hosted the event in the Johnson Alumni Room of the MSU Bresnan Arena. Dignitaries included Lambda Province President, John Diehl, MSU-Mankato President, Richard Davenport, and retired Norwest Bank President, Mr. George Sugden, Iowa Beta '41. Eighty seven year old year old Mr. Sugden said he interrupted his education for WWII but he never interrupted his membership in Phi Delta Theta.

In November of 1964, Mr. Sugden, then Mankato president of Norwest Bank, and several other prominent Phi Delt alumni from the Mankato area, presided over the investiture ceremony. Also in attendance on that day in 1964 was the U.S. Vice President Hubert Humphrey. His son Robert, Bond #26, was a member of the original class.

After-dinner remarks were offered by Lambda Province President John Thiel, MSU-Mankato President Richard Davenport, and a member of the founding class, Terry Larkin, Bond #29. Scholarships were also presented at

Club and Alumni News

Fulton, Missouri Alumni Club

Contact: William Whitlow, wdwlew@socket.net

In April, the Fulton Alumni Club celebrated the Missouri Beta Chapter at Westminster College. The celebration marked the completion of Phase I of the Missouri Beta Capital Campaign. The alumni, in collaboration with Westminster College, raised over $2.2 million to renovate the Missouri Beta Chapter House. The house was built in 1926 and first occupied in January of 1927. It has had only minor renovations since that time.

The renovation included major plumbing and electrical upgrades, sprinkler and alarm system, ADA access, central HVAC, new doors and windows, new fire escape, complete landscape upgrade, and many other repairs and upgrades. The basement level was completely upgraded and for life safety reasons, the chapter room was moved and renovated. Donor plaques were placed outside of each room and the room names were memorialized: Thrown Room, FIGI Lookout, Beach, Country Club, Scoop, and the Bird Cage.

The construction project was managed by S. M. Wilson Construction of St. Louis, Missouri. Its president, Brother Scott Wilson, Westminster '74, took an active role in the direction of the project as well as using his many company assets to help us from planning to completion.

The capital campaign was begun under the direction of Alan C. Henderson, Westminster '68, and the final run was under the direction of Phil Kliewer, Westminster '74. Robert Morrison III, Westminster '44, was also involved from the beginning. Both campaign chairs had an enormous amount of help from brothers who made the solicitations and those who made the donations. Over 300 alumni participated.

Events for the weekend included: A benefit concert by Brother Grady Yates, Westminster '80; Brother Jim Spriggs, Westminster '89, received a Westminster Alumni Achievement award; the official dedication and ribbon cutting was held at the house on the new front porch; lunch at the house for over 200 alumni and guests; a chapter meeting at the house in the new chapter room; a Founders Day ceremony at the house due to an untimely rain; a reception poolside at Brother Tim Steinbeck's house; and finally, a celebration banquet at the Fulton Country Club. During the banquet they recognized the many alumni who made it possible for the renovation. Almost 40% of alumni participated in the campaign. The evening also recognized eight Golden Legionnaires.

The chapter normally goes to Robert Morrison's gravesite for the Founders Day ceremony, but the rain prevailed. Robert Morrison helped found the chapter in 1880 while he worked for Westminster College. While he was at Westminster, Miami University (Ohio Alpha) was not operating, so he adopted Missouri Beta and Westminster College as his home until his death and burial here.

The celebration brought together a group of loyal alumni that will be hard to equal at Missouri Beta. Notable legacy attendees included: Robert Morrison III, '44 (grandson of Robert Morrison, Founder of the Fraternity); Bill Morrison (great-grandson of Robert Morrison); Tim Lamkin, '74 (grandson of Past President of the General Fraternity "Dog" Lamkin); Alan Henderson, '68 (grandson of Past President of the General Fraternity "Slick" Henderson Sr., and son of Past President of the Westminster College Board of Trustees "Slick" Henderson Jr.); David Vaughn, '55 (son of General Harry "Pug" Vaughn who influenced President Truman to bring Winston Churchill to Westminster for his "Iron Curtain" speech); Past President of the General Fraternity Art Hoge, '74; and, Bill Whitlow (grandson of Brewer "Fat" Whitlow and son of W. C. "Bill" Whitlow who were chapter advisers for almost 50 years.)

Another highlight of the weekend was meeting the undergraduate men of the Missouri Beta Chapter. These men not only have a newly renovated home that still has the feel of its historic tradition but they have a new outlook towards fraternity life. Over the last two years, they have completely changed from trying to be like a traditional fraternity on campus to being the example of what fraternity brotherhood was meant to be. It has worked. Recruitment has become a yearlong project and the chapter has doubled in size in the last year. The chapter has created ways to promote student life and brotherhood.

A significant part of this change was a Missouri Beta student-developed course being included in Westminster's curriculum that incorporates Missouri Beta Phikeia program. The Phikeias get two college credit hours for participating in the pledge program. The first half of the course is tradition pledge education and the second half is a leadership program. The course is taught by the Westminster faculty, Missouri Beta alums, and by the Missouri Beta Chapter members.

This year the Fulton Alumni Club established a foundation to help provide scholarships for the men in the chapter. The original intent was to encourage scholarship among the Phikeias and that has been very successful, but they now also help upperclassmen to keep them involved in the chapter.

Alumni club members are all actively involved in helping the Missouri Beta Chapter through the Chapter Advisory Board, the Chapter Home Association, the Scholarship Foundation, and just moral support when needed. The weekend was indeed a celebration of the new renovation of the Missouri Beta Chapter Home and the undergraduate members who are on the road to greatness by living the principles of the Fraternity.

01 | The Los Angeles Alumni Club and the San Fernando Valley Alumni Club celebrated a joint Founders Day on March 13, 2014. The annual event was held at Tom Bergins on Fairfax in Hollywood and featured a Silver Legion ceremony, presided over by General Council President Chris Lapple. Initiated into the Silver Legion was Brother Jeff Woolf (Cal Delta #682) and Brother Steven Silva (Cal Delta #641).

02 | Once again with L.A. Alumni Club support, members of the California Zeta Chapter at California State University at Northridge were invited to staff select promotional giveaway dates at Dodger Stadium. Members of the chapter distributed giveaway items to Dodger fans as they entered Dodger Stadium. The fundraiser was able to help the chapter pay for their new ritual equipment and other chapter operating expenses.

Phis in the L.A. area are invited to join the Phi Delta Theta Los Angeles Alumni Club group on Facebook for future event updates.

03-04 | The Northeast Ohio Alumni Club recently held its annual Founders Day event at the Kent State University Hotel and Conference Center. The event was sponsored by the Phi Delta Theta Northeastern Ohio Alumni Association, which is primarily representing all the fraternity members from Kent State, the University of Akron and other Northeastern Ohio Universities and PDT Alumni. Nearly 240 people registered to attend the event, primarily Kent State alumni going back to the 1940s when a colony of Kent State students of Phi Gamma Theta petitioned the International Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. The International PDT chartered the Ohio Lambda Chapter of Phi Delta Theta at Kent State 60 years ago this year! Kent State's Phi Delta Theta house, is located at 1060 Fraternity Circle and was the first fraternity house built in 2001 on Kent State's Fraternity Circle and today has more than 800 alumni and houses more than 20 brothers. In addition to the 60th birthday of Kent State's Ohio Lambda Chapter, Founders Day celebrates the birthdate of one of the fraternity's founders, Robert Morrison, who helped found Phi Delta Theta in 1848. ■

Road to Greatness: Everyday Phis Doing Extraordinary Things

Kevin Hartz, Co-Founder & CEO, Eventbrite

Eventbrite is an online marketplace for live experiences that allows people to create, discover and register for a wide variety of events. As co-founder and chief executive officer of Eventbrite, California Beta, Stanford '92, Phi Kevin Hartz is responsible for the company's day-to-day-operations, as well as guiding the company's vision. Kevin was previously co-founder and CEO of Xoom Corporation (NASDAQ: XOOM), an international money transfer company, servicing more than 30 countries worldwide. He has served as an early-stage investor and advisor to successful start-ups including the likes of PayPal, Pinterest, Lookout, Flixster, Airbnb, Trulia, and Yammer.

“Failures are learning lessons that I tuck away and move on from quickly. Generally, failures often stem from not taking risks or not learning quickly enough.”

Richard Burroughs IV, Fiddle Player in Seven Handle Circus

Georgia Institute of Technology might be better known for its engineering programs than for the arts, but that doesn't stop students pursuing a range of personal interests, including music. Such is the case for Atlanta native and Georgia Delta alumnus Richard B. Burroughs IV, Georgia Tech '13, who is the fiddle player for up-and-coming band Seven Handle Circus.

Richard began with classical guitar at the age of five. Fascinated with his sister's violin, it wasn't long before he made the switch. By the time he was six he was seriously studying music at the Suzuki School of Music. Jumping ahead several years, he and his current bandmates introduced their first full-length album, Shadows on the Wall, at a pre-release show at the Variety Playhouse in Atlanta on August 23, 2014.

Since forming in 2010, the six-piece band, comprised of a group of Georgia Tech classmates, Seven Handle Circus, or 7HC, has begun to make a name for itself in the Southeast and beyond.

Tate Taylor, Film Producer & Director

In his follow-up to the four-time Academy Award®-nominated blockbuster The Help, Mississippi Alpha Phi Tate Taylor, Mississippi '91, directs Chadwick Boseman (who played Jackie Robinson in the movie 42) as James Brown in Get on Up. Based on the incredible life story of the Godfather of Soul, the film gives a fearless look inside the music, moves and moods of Brown, taking audiences on the journey from his impoverished childhood to his evolution into one of the most influential figures of the 20th century. Boseman is joined in the drama by Viola Davis, Octavia Spencer, Nelsan Ellis, Lennie James, Tika Sumpter, Jill Scott and Dan Aykroyd.

Taylor worked for 15 years in New York and Los Angeles and now lives in Mississippi. He debuted as a feature film director in Pretty Ugly People. He also directed the film The Help, based on Stockett's novel of the same name. She gave him rights to make the film adaptation in June 2008, before the book was published. The film was a major commercial success and was nominated for the Academy Award for Best Picture.

Nate King, Presidential Correspondence Intern

Thousands have had their photo taken in front of the White House, countless visitors have toured the White House, but few can say they have spent part of their undergraduate academic career interning inside of the White House. For Nate King, '15, a student in Valparaiso University's Christ College-The Honors College, stepping through the doors of the White House was a reality nearly every day for an entire semester while he completed a communications internship during the Lutheran College Washington Semester.

"Being in the White House—given the history of the building—was a very powerful experience for me and one that I hope will serve me well in the future," he said.

Nate was part of a group of five Valpo students who traveled to Washington, D.C. for the semester-long program, which provides students with real-world work experience and prepares them for future careers. ■

Phi Delta Theta is always in search of Phis to feature within the Road to Greatness campaign. If you know a brother who is doing extraordinary things, visit www.phideltatheta.org/road-to-greatness/ to submit his story for feature consideration.

Phi Footnotes

Akron

01 | Dan Moldea, '72, recently published his book Interference: How Organized Crime Influences Professional Football. The book hit Amazon's #1 among books about organized crime in any format on Amazon's Best Sellers List. The reason? Moldea's two-part interview with Keith Olbermann. See: <http://espn.go.com/video/clip?id=11076073>.

Arizona

Richard Vogelheim, '53, recently shared with GHQ that he has been in the clothing business since 1960 and owns and operates Richard's Clothing in Rogers City, Michigan. He has eight children.

Bowling Green

Gary Kovacs, '69, began his financial services career in 1970 with Fidelity Union Life. He was recently inducted into the Bowling Green State University Academy of Distinguished Alumni, the highest honor bestowed by the University which recognizes the extraordinary accomplishments of alumni who have made significant contributions to their professional field or philanthropic endeavors.

Kovacs subsequently formed Financial Planning Services in 1972, which he operated until 1994. He merged the company in 1994 when he became a principal with Harris, Webb, and Garrison (HWG), a full-service regional securities and investment banking firm serving Texas and the southwest. In 1998, HWG was acquired and merged with TEI, Inc. of Houston along with two other similar companies to form Pinnacle Global Group, Inc.

Additionally, Kovacs is co-founder of Izzo's Illegal Burrito, which opened its first location in 2001 at the north gates of Louisiana State University. Their concept continues to expand and they are called the Burrito Kings of Louisiana.

Kovacs also served as mayor, city treasurer and councilman for the city of Hunters Creek Village from 2000–2004 and is currently senior vice president for Wealth Management at UBS Financial Services, Inc. in Houston.

Gary became a student at BGSU after serving in the military with the Special Forces, which included a 21-month tour in Vietnam. As a student, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, worked for The BG News, lettered in soccer, was co-captain of the 1969 soccer team, was a Varsity Club member and earned a bachelor's degree in journalism.

Centre

Jordan Gay, '13, was picked to the Buffalo Bills' 53-man roster and is listed on the Bills' depth chart as the first team punter and holder. Gay received his NFL opportunity after starting for three years at Centre, earning conference special teams player of the year honors all three years.

California-San Diego and California-Santa Barbara

02 | Stephen Dunne, '75, University of California, Santa Barbara, and his nephew, Charles Zahl, '08, University of California, San Diego, were both inducted as Silver Legionnaire's at the Orange County Alumni Club's Annual Founders Day banquet in May. Stephen is currently chairman of the chapter advisory board for the California Chi Chapter at the University of San Francisco and was the delegate for the San Francisco Alumni Club at the 80th General Convention. Charles is excited to hear that efforts are currently underway to restore his chapter at the University of California at San Diego and plans to support that effort with the help of his locally based fellow alumni. Stephen's son, Michael Dunne, '07, California Polytechnic State-San Luis Obispo (not present in photo) is also a Phi and participated in the University of San Francisco colony induction ceremony earlier in the year.

Central Florida

Dr. Shawn Robinson, '91, Hillsborough Community College Ybor City Campus president received the national 2014 Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) Shirley B. Gordon Award of Distinction. Dr. Robinson was recognized at the annual conference in Orlando on April 25, 2014.

College presidents and campus CEOs are selected for this award on the basis of outstanding efforts given toward promoting the goals of Phi Theta Kappa. See page 42 for more about Phi Deltas serving as college and university presidents.

Colgate

John W. Tripp, '70, authored a new book called Straight Talk for College Seniors...How to get a High Paying Job.

03 | Conrad F. Thiede, '90, has taken a position with Cincinnati Public Radio as director of major and planned gifts. Prior to this, he was with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra for four years. The photo of Conrad is of him with Ira Glass, when Ira performed at the Aronoff Center in Cincinnati. Glass is an American public radio personality and the host and producer of the radio and television show, This American Life.

Colorado State

04 | Nate Golon, '02, lives in Los Angeles and works as an actor/writer/director in the entertainment industry. Several years ago he released a half-hour comedy, Workshop, on Hulu. He recently released his first book, Journey of Self: Six Months in the Japanese Countryside, which hit #1 in three categories on Amazon during its first five days of release in early June. Golon describes the book as a mix between Eat, Pray, Love and Into the Wild.

Cornell

05 | Pete Ippel, '02, was selected as 2014 recipient of the City of Ventura Mayor's Arts Award for Emerging Artist. The Emerging Artist award recognizes a working artist (in any discipline) under the age of 40 who has demonstrated outstanding promise and commitment to the Ventura arts community. Established in 2005, the City of Ventura (Calif.) Mayor's Arts Awards recognize the contributions to the cultural community by city residents, artists, educators, organizations and business leaders. The goal of this program is to help cultivate greater visibility and understanding of the value of the arts, as well as grow new leadership and new patrons of the arts.

DePauw

06 | The 2014 Gardner Award (Alumnus of the Year) has been awarded to Bruce Bickner, '65, for his outstanding leadership and tireless efforts on behalf of Phi Delta Theta and his important endeavors in higher education and his community. Bickner forged a successful career in law and business while serving with distinction in higher education governance at several institutions, notably the University of Michigan and its Law School, and as a community volunteer. For full write up see <http://phide.lt/1ABNmrl>

Duke

Georgia Tech

08 | Phi Delta Theta Fraternity alumnus and Atlanta attorney Ben Mathis Jr., '81, was among the five Georgia Tech fraternity and sorority alumni/ae inducted into the university's inaugural Greek Hall of Fame.

"It was a great honor to be a part of the inaugural class," said Mathis who was initiated into the Fraternity's Georgia Delta Chapter at Georgia Tech. "A highlight of the night was having fellow chapter brothers Phil Keb, '75, and Jim Borders, '80, present, which only emphasized that the friendships made during our days as actives do indeed last a lifetime." His son Ben Mathis III is currently an undergraduate member of the Georgia Delta Chapter.

"Brother Mathis has continually supported the chapter as well as the university and its Greek community. For a member of Phi Delta Theta to be included in the inaugural class of the Georgia Tech Greek Hall of Fame is a true testament to the Fraternity's commitment to excellence," said Chris Maddox, the current Georgia Delta President. "We are honored by his accomplishments and are proud to call him a Phi."

As an undergraduate, Mathis served as senior class president and was a member of ANAK and Omicron Delta Kappa honorariums. As an undergraduate member of Phi Delta Theta he achieved top academic honors among his new member peers, was recognized as the chapter's Outstanding Sophomore, and named Outstanding Phi Delta Theta Senior by the Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club of Atlanta.

During the years since graduation, he served on Georgia Delta's house corporation for more than 10 years and chairman of the University's Greek Alumni Council where he was honored as Outstanding Alumni Volunteer. He currently serves as the vice chairman of the Georgia Tech Alumni Association Board of Trustees and is a member of the Scheller College of Business Advisory Board.

Illinois

09 | Roger Ebert, '64, was inducted into the inaugural awards reception for Illinois' Fraternity & Sorority Hall of Fame sponsored by the Order of Omega. With great honor they announced that Roger Ebert was posthumously recognized for his post-undergraduate achievements along with three other recipients.

Roger Ebert worked for the Chicago Sun Times until his death in 2013, but his contributions as a film critic, journalist, and screenwriter remain highly regarded. In addition to his 20 books and 200 reviews published, Ebert was the first film critic to win the Pulitzer Prize. While attending the University of Illinois, he was the president of the U.S. Student Press Association, editor-in-chief for The Daily Illini, and a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Craig Spitz, '79, is CFO of Stone Brewing Co., the 10th largest craft brewer in the U.S. The most enjoyable part of his job is deal-making. Craig is the "Designated Negotiator" for new locations and endeavors, financing packages with lenders, etc.

Maryland

10 | The University of Maryland's Department of Fraternity and Sorority Life (DFSL) inducted the first group of Greek alumni from every fraternity and sorority chapter that existed on the campus over the past 100 years into their newly formed Greek hall of fame, The Centennial Honor Roll. DFSL thought it was important to recognize their Greek members that had made time, physical and/or financial contributions to their Maryland chapter or the University of Maryland's Department of Fraternity and Sorority Life community; elevated fraternity and sorority life on a chapter or community level; or any combination of these achievements.

There is a garden on Fraternity Row with bricks engraved with each honoree's name. At the ceremony, each member was presented with a small replica of their brick. The Phi Delta Theta honorees in attendance at the event were Bob "Turtle" Smith, Robert "Bob" A. Gale, Michael Twigg, Chris Washburn, Adam Luecking, and Carol Perry on behalf of her deceased husband, Marv Perry.

The Maryland Alpha Chapter of Phi Delta Theta was proud to have the following ten brothers added to the Centennial Honor Roll:

Mississippi

11 | Dr. Thomas J. "Sparky" Reardon, '72, retired as the assistant vice chancellor/dean of students at the University of Mississippi after serving the university for 36 years. He now retains the title of dean emeritus. His primary areas of responsibility included advising fraternities and student government, leadership development, crisis intervention, organizational discipline, and teaching. He has a masters of education from Delta State University and a bachelor of arts in education and a PhD from Ole Miss. Brother Reardon has spoken to thousands of students at numerous universities, conferences, and conventions. For this, Phi Delta Theta honored him with the Legion of Honor Award. He has also been awarded the Robert Shaefer Award for significant, long term service to Greek Life. In 2008, the Ole Miss senior class honored him with a scholarship in his name and in 1995 he was awarded the initial Thomas Frist Award for his outstanding service to students. He has appeared in the History Channel's Frat Boys, a history of fraternities in America. He enjoys Ole Miss sports, reading, cooking, and traveling.

Recently, he was awarded the Phi Kappa Psi Ralph "Dud" Daniel Award for Interfraternal Service. At the 80th Biennial Convention, Reardon was elected to the General Council as a member at large. This same award was given to President Emeritus Bob Miller in 2012.

11 | Dr. John C. Fleming Jr., '73, was re-elected to the U.S. House of Representatives for Louisiana's 4th congressional district and will be serving in the 114th Congress. Fleming, a member of the Republican Party, is from Minden, Louisiana. A member of Sons of the American Revolution and the Jamestown Society, Fleming is only the second Republican to hold his seat since Reconstruction.

MIT

13 | MIT spawned the likes of Adam Riess, '92, (Nobel Physics laureate) and Drew Houston, '05, (founder of Dropbox); so MIT prides itself in cultivating intelligent, independent, and successful men. The following four brothers exemplify the hardworking, innovative and intelligent standards of the Fraternity—Mateo Pena Doll, Forrest Pieper, Chris Haid, and AJ Perez. These men are the founders of New Valence Robotics, a company that promotes the education and use of 3D printers in school. Their prime product, the NVPrinter, was born in the dingy basement of the fraternity house, one that over the years has become a makeshift workshop for projects exactly like these. Today, New Valence has built and leased three printers, two in public high schools and one at MIT. They were hoping to have eight in circulation by spring 2014, and 100 by fall 2014.

In short, New Valence wants to democratize 3D printing technology as CEO AJ Perez explains, “Most technology has three phases: It starts with education, then innovation, and commercialization. Our product is meant to expedite that ‘education’ phase. We are working exclusively with schools and colleges so students can create 3D models and bring ideas to life.”

In addition to new work space, New Valence is looking for investors to help fund the company’s rapid plan to scale.

16 | At the Kennedy Space Center in Florida, NASA renamed the center's Operations and Checkout Building in honor of Neil Armstrong, '55, who passed away in 2012. The renaming ceremony included NASA Administrator Charles Bolden, Kennedy Center Director Robert Cabana, and Apollo 11's Collins, Aldrin and astronaut Jim Lovell, who was the mission's back-up commander. International Space Station NASA astronauts Steve Swanson, who is the current station commander, and Reid Wiseman, took part in the ceremony from their orbiting laboratory 260 miles above Earth.

Kennedy's Operations and Checkout Building has played a vital role in NASA's spaceflight history. It was used during the Apollo program to process and test the command, service and lunar modules. Today, the facility is being used to process and assemble NASA's Orion spacecraft, which the agency will use to send astronauts to an asteroid in the 2020s and Mars in the 2030s. Phi Delta Theta was pleased to host a PhiDlt Weekend at Kennedy Space Center and the crowd was addressed by Brothers Story Musgrave and Jon McBride, both NASA astronauts like Armstrong.

Jack Mendell, '65, has written a book titled How to Win More Often Playing Farkel. Farkel is an exciting family dice game that requires both skill and luck to win. This unique book shows how to apply the optimal strategy and to manage your risk so that you win more than your fair share.

Phi Sports: An Unbreakable Bond

In professional baseball there are unusual connections made every day. Former college rivals become teammates, old friends become your adversary, and people who didn't even know they had a bond can be united. The latter was the case for Dave Burba and Andrew Chappell. In the 2013 season they were both assigned to the Modesto Nuts, High A Minor League Baseball affiliate for the Colorado Rockies; Burba as the pitching coach, and Chappell as the strength and conditioning coach. A few weeks into the season, Burba noticed the Phi Delta Theta tattoo Chappell had on his back and the bond was made.

Dave Burba was born in Dayton, Ohio and attended Ohio State to play baseball. While at Ohio State, Burba chose to pledge Phi Delta Theta, Ohio Zeta. "I was at practice and one of my teammates happened to be a Phi Delt. He invited my roommate and me to a fraternity dinner. We went back to our room and I wasn't familiar with how a fraternity worked, but my roommate explained the process to me. Later that week we were both invited to a rush party, and I enjoyed the camaraderie so much that I decided to join, while my roommate opted out."

After his years as a Buckeye, Burba was drafted in the second round of the 1987 MLB draft and proceeded to have a 15-year major league career as a pitcher for the Mariners, Giants, Reds, Indians, Rangers, and Brewers. He is currently in his fourth year coaching in the Colorado Rockies organization. Although he is not able to attend Phi Delt functions due to his job, Burba has maintained a relationship with his brothers throughout the years. "I created a few friendships with brothers that I have held on to through the years. We have stayed in touch mostly through texting and emails. During my major league career we played around the country, and when we went to a city where one of my brothers lived, we would get together over dinner and drinks to catch up on old times. Even after my baseball career ended, whenever I am in cities where my brothers are, we make it a point to get together and catch up."

Andrew Chappell grew up in Austin, Texas and also chose his college, Southwestern University, to play baseball. Although he never imagined that he would join a fraternity, the brothers of Phi Delta Theta Texas Gamma created such a welcoming environment, it was hard to resist.

"The sophomore members had such a unique friendship that it made me want to be a part of it. Then, as soon as my nine closest friends wanted to be Phi Deltas, I couldn't pass up the opportunity to call them my brothers." Chappell held many executive positions in his four year tenure, including president of the chapter. After graduating from SU, Chappell attended two years of graduate school and joined the Rockies as a strength and conditioning coach in 2013. "I have always wanted to be in professional baseball and the skills I learned while I was an active member helped me develop tremendously as a leader, but the most important thing that came from the Fraternity was the friendships. I still keep weekly, if not daily, contact with my pledge brothers and we get together at least twice a year to see each other and spend time together. They are without a doubt the best friends I will ever have."

Although Burba and Chappell came from different backgrounds, the ever encompassing Bond of Phi Delta Theta has brought them together. ■

The Rev. Daniel S. Hendrickson Chosen to Be Creighton President

By Kate Howard/World-Herald staff writer

Creighton University's next president will be a Nebraska native who started his Jesuit life and teaching career on the Omaha campus.

The Rev. Daniel S. Hendrickson, Creighton '03, currently an associate provost of academic initiatives at Marquette University, has been chosen by Creighton University's board to be the school's 25th president. He was in Omaha the weekend of December 6, 2014 to meet with the board and held a meet-and-greet on campus. Hendrickson, 44, began his Jesuit education, taught philosophy and was ordained into the priesthood on Creighton's campus. He has sat on Creighton's governing board since last year. And he said he is thrilled to return as president because he has spent the last 25 years in and around Jesuit education and is personally invested in Creighton's mission.

"That mission is about changing the lives of students, and about changing the world," Hendrickson said.

The Rev. Timothy Lannon announced that he will step down as president next month because of health concerns.

J. Christopher Bradberry, dean of the School of Pharmacy and Health Professions, will serve as interim president until Hendrickson comes to Omaha in July.

Higher Education Leaders

Phi Delta Theta—the pinnacle of fraternal and professional societies, centered on the potential of each brother, the unquenchable thirst for personal development and the lifelong values of friendship, sound learning and rectitude. The Fraternity is committed to developing strong leadership skills from the beginning of one’s membership.

Often leadership experience starts when a member is elected to an officer position within his chapter. This experience often translates to campus leadership and involvement in a variety of student organizations. It is very common for a positive Greek life experience to turn into a career passion in Student Life, Greek Affairs or some other Higher Education leadership. We have discovered this path amongst our membership and thought it would be interesting to compile a list of Phis who are now leading academic institutions and student bodies. ■

Prevent Identity Theft

By Nationwide Insurance

Identity theft can happen any time of year, anywhere your personal information is available. Results of a Nationwide Insurance survey show that victims spend an average of 81 hours trying to resolve their cases and pay $587 in out-of-pocket expenses.

Use our identity theft prevention tips to protect your good name:

- Leave extra credit cards and your Social Security card in a secure place at home. It's not necessary to carry all your credit cards with you when you shop—just take the ones you need for that trip.
- When using an ATM, make sure no one is looking over your shoulder to see your PIN, and always take your receipt. Sometimes it has vital information that criminals could use to access your bank account.
- Review your credit card receipt before you hand it back to the cashier. Some receipts will have your credit card information on them. If so, take a pen and cross out your credit card number before giving the receipt back.

- Use a credit card, not a debit card, when shopping online. Only shop with companies you trust or have done business with in the past. Make sure they are using a secure server to store your information.
- Always sign the back of your credit cards or write, “Ask for photo ID.”

Identity theft is the fastest-growing crime in the country, and it can take years to restore your credit. Prevent identity theft from happening to you by keeping a close eye on all of your transactions—online, at a mall, at a restaurant and anywhere you do business. ■

Fraternity News:

Welcome Our New Consultants

Zach Hilliard received a bachelor of science in communications media. Zach was first a Re-Founding Father at Ohio Lambda (Kent State) before transferring to IUP and rebuilding the Pennsylvania Lambda Chapter, becoming a Re-Founding Father a second time. Throughout his undergraduate career, Zach held several executive positions including chapter president, recruitment chairman, Phikeia educator and social chairman. Outside of Greek life, Indiana Univ. of Pa. '13 Zach also enjoys playing soccer, football, volleyball, skiing and swimming. Brother Hilliard previously served as the chapter services consultant for the Northeast Region of Phi Delta Theta, but he has now moved to the Expansion Team. He will be working with the rest of the expansion consultants to continue to grow the Phi Delt nation.

Michael Bruning recently joined the GHQ staff as a chapter services consultant for the Midwest Region. Previously, Michael earned a degree from the University of South Dakota specializing in musical arts and saxophone performance. While at South Dakota Alpha, he served as chapter president among other roles. Michael was also highly involved in the University community through the Sound of USD Marching Band, University Jazz Ensemble, and Dance Marathon to name a few. In his free time, Michael enjoys travel, discovering new music, sports, and staying active. As consultant for the Midwest, Michael is very eager to continue to strengthen the region's chapters and assist Phis on their personal road to greatness.

South Dakota '14

Matt Fritsch recently graduated with a bachelors of science degree in international business from Northwest Missouri State University. During his time at the Missouri Theta Chapter, he served as awards chairman, recruitment chairman, vice president and president. His other leadership roles on campus included serving on the Northwest Student Senate for three years, and he held the office of vice president for one semester his senior year. Matt held leadership roles on Greek Week, Homecoming and was a member of Blue Key National Honor Society. He studied abroad in Shanghai, China during the summer of 2012 with students from the Northwest Department of Marketing/Management taking classes in Mandarin and economics. In his free time, Matt enjoys traveling with his family, hiking, camping, exploring new restaurants, and catching St. Louis Cardinals baseball games.

During Brother Peter Stuart's time at Indiana Zeta he served as the risk management chairman, assistant Phikeia educator and vice president. During Peter's tenure as vice president, Indiana Zeta grew its membership and raised the chapter's cumulative GPA. Brother Stuart created his own major combining philosophy and political science to study the philosophies of American political thought.

On campus he was a member of the varsity baseball team, vice president of communication for the Interfraternity Council, a senior senator and a mentor in the Big Brothers Big Sisters Program. For fun, Peter enjoys sampling new music, reading fiction and philosophy, and watching baseball.

Tucker Barney played for the baseball team but was plagued by three shoulder injuries during his time at UPS. Tucker was the Associated Students of the University of Puget Sound (ASUPS) Lectures Coordinator for two years and a supervisor in the campus gym for three years. He also served Washington Delta as chapter president for two terms. Tucker is originally from Boise, Idaho which explains his love for everything that the outdoors has to offer: hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, and snow skiing. He is ecstatic to be working with the Phi Delt expansion team.

BJ Nelson joined the GHQ staff in June of 2014 after graduating from Allegheny College where he earned degrees in psychology and creative writing. He has a passion for writing fiction and poetry, yoga (which he has been an instructor of for three years), music, technology, and running. BJ was very involved at Pennsylvania Delta where he served in many roles, his largest project being the creation of the chapter's social media presence and PR campaign. He will be working with the rest of the expansion consultants to continue to grow the Phi Delt nation and help guide future brothers on their road to greatness.

Patrick Doudy earned a bachelor of science in chemistry. During his time at Idaho Alpha, Patrick served as scholarship committee chairman, house manager, Phikeia educator and president. Elsewhere on the Idaho campus, Patrick worked with the department of chemistry, teaching general chemistry and organic chemistry laboratory courses for two years. Outside of school and work, Patrick is a runner, reader, skier, camper, and soccer player. He also enjoys driving and working with cars, always looking forward to road trips and the outdoors.

Graham Erskine graduated with a bachelor of arts in philosophy and a minor in law. During his undergraduate career with Phi Delta Theta, Graham held the positions of president, vice president, secretary, recruitment chair, and Phikeia educator among others. He was also involved with the Dalhousie Greek Council Society and the Dalhousie Shinerama committee, holding executive positions in both. Graham is an avid sports fan and hopes to pursue higher education and a career that allows him to remain connected to the sports world.

As director of Canadian services, Graham will be advising and supporting all of the Canadian chapters in Phi Delt, working on continuing expansion projects throughout Canada and raising awareness about the work being done by the Canadian Scholarship Foundation. Graham is very excited for the tremendous work that can be expected from our Canadian Phis.

Then & Now

1915 This was the year Alexander Graham Bell called his assistant, Watson, across the country in San Francisco from his office in New York. It also was when the first non-direct blood transfusion was performed 100 years ago by the Belgian doctor Albert Hustin. For Phi Delta Theta, we welcomed Ohio Iota, Denison University to the fold along with Washington Beta at Whitman College.

2015 Now, telephone calls across the country are routine—and usually done on a mobile phone. In addition to the chapters mentioned forming in 1915, Ontario Gamma, McMaster University, will celebrate a 25th anniversary this year. ■

Staff Changes at GHQ

Director of Housing and Facilities

Andrew LaPorte joined the staff in October 2014 as the Fraternity's first director of Housing and Facilities. He joins GHQ from the community management industry to lead the Fraternity's housing initiatives outlined in the Phi Delta Theta strategic plan Phi Delt 2020. During his tenure in the community management industry, he managed a portfolio of condominium and homeowner associations and provided leadership and support to their corresponding boards of directors. During this time he oversaw 30 communities with approximately 5,500 residents, valued at $2.36 billion. Brother LaPorte, Shippensburg '12, is a native of Allentown, Pennsylvania. While at Shippensburg, he studied business administration and marketing, was IFC president, and is a member of the Pennsylvania Omicron Chapter, where he was chapter president.

Melanie Clayton, the current director of Housing and Insurance, has shifted her role to focus entirely on the health and safety of Phi Delta Theta members. In line with these responsibilities, her new title is director of Insurance and Safety.

Education Commissioner Passing the Baton

If you have had a great experience as an undergraduate or alumnus at a Presidents Leadership Conference, Kleberg Emerging Leaders Institute, Recruitment Workshop, or other undergraduate educational conference over the past four years, then you have Brother Matthew Brillhart, Emporia '04, to thank for that. For the past four years, Brother Brillhart has served the Fraternity as the education commissioner. In this role, Matt provided leadership, vision, and direction to all of Phi Delt's educational programs.

Brother Brillhart's passion for Phi Delt education began in 2001 when he

"Matt is an absolute visionary! All of the key educational directives that are moving our Fraternity forward are the results of this thought leadership, and tireless commitment to progress."
—David Kovacovich, educational programming committee member became Phi Delta Theta's first director of Education at General Headquarters. Matt transitioned out of the Education Director role in 2004, and in 2010 he was appointed as the education commissioner by the General Council.

As commissioner, Matt led the Educational Programming Committee and worked closely with the GHQ staff to not only provide an impactful and exciting educational experience at all our conferences, but to also begin measuring the impact our programs have. Matt's leadership oversaw the transition of the Recruitment Workshop program from a centralized once-per-year conference, to an annual five-workshop series that provided recruitment training to 500% more undergraduates per year. During Matt's term, he also led the charge in the creation and initial implementation of the new Phikeia Education program, as well as the inception and implementation of the new Honors College of Leadership.

"Matt has always been a firm believer in educating fraternity men—whether as a paid staff member at GHQ, or a volunteer dedicated to the educational process."—Michael Scarlatelli, Fraternity Warden and Past President of the General Council

After a busy and transformational four years leading the educational efforts of the Fraternity, Matt has stepped down from the Education Commissioner role. Matt's successor will be former GHQ staff member and former province president, Jesse Moyer, South Dakota '03. Jesse comments, "I first worked with Matt when we were on staff together in 2003.

He was always one of the smartest people in any room he entered and had such a unique way of approaching situations and challenges. I always considered myself lucky to be able to work with, and more importantly learn from, Matt." We'd like to thank Brother Brillhart for all his years of service to Phi Delta Theta, and we look forward to continuing the work he began. ■

All for One and One for All

Las Vegas hosts 80th Biennial Convention

The Biennial Convention offers a unique opportunity for Phis of all ages from many parts of the world to meet in the true spirit of The Bond. Since 1880, the General Convention has held all supreme and legislative powers of the Fraternity. The Convention has three main responsibilities and powers: 1) electing the General Council, 2) consideration of judicial matters and 3) enacting laws for the regulation of the Fraternity, since only the General Convention may amend the Ritual, Constitution, and General Statutes of the Fraternity.

Convention is a memorable and rewarding experience for all who attend. The 2014 Convention included entertainment from some of the best acts from “The Strip,” the sights and sounds of Las Vegas, and events that allowed brothers to reconnect with old acquaintances while connecting for the first time with other “Brothers in the Bond.”

There were 708 Phis and guests on hand to experience the Phi Delt experience. When one convention closes, GHQ staff begins work on the next convention scheduled to be held in Savannah, Georgia in 2016.

During the Awards Luncheon, Chairman of the Survey Commission David Almacy presented a newly created award, the T. Glen Cary Award, that recognizes the outstanding colony of the biennium. The award will be presented every two years at the General Convention. It was only fitting to name the award after Brother T. Glen Cary, a man who many identify as the “godfather” of the Phi Delta Theta expansion program—a man who has spent over 50 years, giving his time and support to our great Fraternity. Brother Cary has spent over 35 years on the Survey Commission, helping guide the growth of the Phi Delta Theta Expansion program.

At the 68th Biennial Convention in Kansas City, Texas Epsilon Brother T. Glen Cary was awarded Phi Delta Theta’s Legion of Honor Award that recognizes a member who has made a major contribution of his time, effort and energy to serve the Fraternity and improve its stature. And by “major contribution of time,” his contributions to Phi Delta Theta have been made since 1959!

Drew Houston, MIT ’05, was presented the Fraternity’s Nance Millett Free Enterprise Award and addressed attendees during the Building on the Bond Luncheon. Houston is co-founder of Dropbox, an online backup and storage service. He has been named one of the most promising players aged 30 and under by Business Week and among the top 30 under-30 entrepreneurs by Inc.com. Drew was also the youngest commencement speaker at MIT in 2013.

Elections for the Phi Delta Theta General Council were held. The members of the 2014–2016 General Council include President Richard E. Fabritius, Treasurer Jeffrey N. Davis, Reporter Chris W. Brussalis, and Morris D. “Moe” Stephens and Dr. Thomas J. “Sparky” Reardon as Members at Large. ■

Trophy Winners

Harvard Trophy

Winner: Nebraska Alpha-University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Nebraska Alpha has a booming 104 members, well above the campus average. More than 50 of these members are actively involved in other campus organizations such as business fraternities and honor societies. During this past academic year, the chapter accumulated 10 intramural championships and four runner-ups. Nebraska Alpha has more than 20 committee members involved in student government, including three student government senate members and the speaker of the senate. With a chapter GPA of 3.3, 55 members made Dean's List in their respective colleges.

Nebraska Alpha was the winner of a five star rating for the Outstanding Chapter on Campus award, the highest honor achievable. During the fall semester, the chapter raised over $6,100 for ALS at their "Wafflebash" and in the spring, they raised another $4,200 for ALS at their "Phi Factor," netting a yearly contribution of $10,300!

This is the seventh year in a row that Nebraska Alpha has been recognized as finalists for the Harvard Trophy and the fourth time that they've won the award during this span.

T. Glen Cary Award

Winner: California Phi-Chapman University

California Phi embodies the spirit of this award. Since its colonization in April 2013, California Phi has had two successful recruitment periods and actively developed a philanthropic leadership role on campus. Here are some highlights of what this chapter achieved in the biennium.

- Φ Earned first place in Kappa Alpha Theta's Katwalk fashion show, raising over $800 to benefit the Casa Foundation.
- Φ Earned second place in Gamma Phi Beta's Airbands singing competition, to benefit Camp Fire USA and Girls on the Run International.
- Φ Earned second place in Delta Gamma's Anchor Man, raising over $700 to benefit Service for Sight.
- Φ Earned third place in Kappa Kappa Gamma's Kappa Classroom, raising $250 to benefit the Kappa Kappa Gamma Foundation.
- Φ Earned third place in Alpha Gamma Delta's golf game Tee Off, to benefit the Alpha Gamma Delta Foundation.
- Φ Earned third place in Delta Delta Delta's sport competition Twister with a Twist, to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.
- Φ Raised over $2,000 to benefit The ALS Association at the Walk to Defeat ALS.
- Φ Raised over $2,000 to benefit the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life 24 hour walk/run for cancer, the most of any fraternity at Chapman.
- Φ Participated in Phi Gamma Delta's football game Turkey Bowl and Alpha Phi's talent competition Mr. University, benefiting the Harold Robinson Foundation and the Make a Wish Foundation.

Phoenix Award

Winner: Washington Alpha-University of Washington

Washington Alpha saw an improvement in virtually every area of operation this year. The chapter increased its membership by 68% and had the second highest GPA of IFC chapters with a 3.4. The chapter is full of leaders on campus with representation on IFC and student government. In 2014, the chapter received a $250,000 gift from the wife of Brother Robert J. Behnke, rededicated their chapter house in his name and established a Whole Man Scholarship in his name.

Founders Trophy

Winner: Kansas Delta-Wichita State University

Kansas Delta is the largest fraternity at Wichita State University. The chapter has numerous members recognized by honor societies and professional fraternities and holds the top GPA ranking. Together, the members of the chapter completed 1,145 hours of community service and raised $10,000 for the local chapter of The ALS Association with their Dullea Classic philanthropy golf tournament.

Kansas City Trophy

Winner: Illinois Gamma-Monmouth College

Illinois Gamma is the largest fraternity at their college and the only one to practice year-round recruitment. The chapter had the largest fraternity recruitment class of 2014, and 34 different student organizations contain members of the chapter. The political editor and photographer for the school newspaper are members of Illinois Gamma. Illinois Gamma placed third on campus in academics with 10 members landing on Dean's List. The many community service commitments of the chapter include Boy Scouts of America, Kids Against Hunger and many others. The chapter raised $800 for ALS during their "Iron Horse Home Run Derby" event and $3,000 at their ALS benefit dinner.

Housser Trophy

Winner: British Columbia Alpha-University of British Columbia

British Columbia Alpha is the largest Canadian chapter with 67 active members. During the 2013-14 year, the chapter initiated 33 new members. Eighteen chapter members received academic honors and 25 members were involved in student organizations, including seven on student government, four IFC officers and six orientation leaders. The chapter boasted six intramural championships. British Columbia Alpha hosted "Take the Stage for ALS," an open mic night near campus that raised over $1,500.

Michael Bidwill

President, Arizona Cardinals inducted into Phi Delta Theta Sports Hall of Fame

At the 2014 Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada, Michael J. Bidwill, St. Louis '87, was inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame along with a posthumous award to Buffalo Bills legend, Ralph Wilson. Brother Bidwill was joined by his chapter brothers Jeff Sigmund, John Schicker, and Brad Wright.

After practicing law for six years as a federal prosecutor, Michael Bidwill joined the Cardinals organization in 1996 as vice president/general counsel and today serves as team president. In that time, his influence over the club and his role in shaping its success has been undeniable.

In addition to his prominent role in guiding the Cardinals, Bidwill has established himself as an influential leader in the greater Phoenix business community where he has been a strong advocate for economic growth and development.

Within the NFL, Michael chairs the League's Security and Fan Conduct Committee, a group of eight club executives that oversees and develops best security practices for NFL facilities and is a member of the board of NFL Charities. He has also been a member of the league's Business Ventures Committee since 2007 when Commissioner Roger Goodell appointed him to it.

He additionally serves on Arizona's Super Bowl Host Committee. That group not only oversaw the successful staging of Bowl XLII at University of Phoenix Stadium in 2008 but which brought the 2015 game (Super Bowl XLIX) and its half billion dollar economic impact to the state.

From 2008–10, Bidwill served back-to-back terms as chairman of Greater Phoenix Economic Council (GPEC). He is also a board member of Greater Phoenix Leadership (GPL), an organization composed of the region's top business and civic leaders. In July of 2011, Bidwill and 16 business leaders in the state were appointed to the Arizona Commerce Authority Board of Directors. Michael is also a member of the board for the Pat Tillman Foundation, which carries on the legacy of the former Cardinals safety killed in Afghanistan in 2004.

In 2010, Bidwill was selected by the Phoenix Business Journal as one of its 25 "Most Admired CEO's." The previous year, he also received the Leader for Tomorrow award from the Boy Scouts of America.

Among his most significant accomplishments with the Cardinals was spearheading the effort that led to the creation of University of Phoenix Stadium. The venue has been a major factor in the transformation of the Cardinals and a catalyst for the team's success. The team has also sold out every game it has played since the iconic stadium's opening.

Strong community involvement has also been a hallmark of Bidwill's tenure with the Cardinals, with a particular emphasis on the value of youth sports. In 2011, Bidwill led the team's support of state legislation implementing stronger concussion guidelines and increasing awareness among Arizona high school athletes. Past recognition includes the team's selection as the NFC recipient of the “Pop Warner NFL Team of the Year (2005)” for commitment to the development of youth football. Two years earlier, that same organization presented Michael with the Glenn S. “Pop” Warner Award, for excellence in athletics, scholarship, and life’s endeavors with integrity and humanity.

From 1990–96, Bidwill was an Assistant U.S. Attorney with the Department of Justice in Phoenix where he specialized in homicide and other violent crime cases.

Bidwill earned a bachelor of science degree in finance from St. Louis University in 1987 and in 1990 earned a law degree from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. A licensed pilot and flying enthusiast (see page 60), Bidwill also donates his time and resources as a volunteer for “Flying Samaritans,” a group of volunteers including doctors and other medical personnel who offer free medical clinics in Mexico. ■

Foundation News:

Kleberg Emerging Leaders Institute 2014

Stephen J. "Tio" and Janell Kleberg visit Oxford

The Fraternity and the Phi Delta Theta Foundation are committed to developing strong leadership skills from the beginning of one's membership. The Kleberg Emerging Leaders Institute (Kleberg) was created to meet that goal. By bringing together the up-and-coming freshman and sophomore leaders from our chapters across the United States and Canada, Kleberg creates a Phi Delta learning laboratory, where one is able to learn leadership skills from his peers and distinguished alumni. Stephen J. "Tio" Kleberg, Texas Tech '69, and his wife Janell made their inaugural visit to Oxford, Ohio and made it an event to remember.

As Kleberg Emerging Leaders Institute is becoming a pre-eminent fraternity leadership conference, we have begun to invite alumni to visit Oxford so that they can experience one of Phi Delta Theta's most important endeavors. The Kleberg Fellows Program experience allows a Fellow to attend all Kleberg meetings, share meals with undergraduate delegates, attend an alumni reception at General Headquarters to hear from GHQ staff, and to share the energy and excitement for the future of Phi Delta Theta, as it is transmitted to these newest brothers. Here is what our Fellows Joe Royce, Southwestern '63, and Tom Gibson, DePauw '72, had to say about their time in Oxford:

What was your favorite part of the conference?

Joe Royce: Interacting with students from various chapters throughout the United States and Canada and observing the efforts of talented and dedicated headquarters staff, current and former officers of Phi Delta Theta and current and former trustees of Phi Delta Theta Foundation in conducting the Leadership Institute and the Honors College.

What impact do you see this conference having on the leadership development of our students?

Tom Gibson: I think the conference sessions were well organized and the content was meaningful. In my mind leadership within the Fraternity is important but leadership in your career is even more important. Hopefully the Kleberg experience will be a useful foundation as brothers enter the work force.

How do you believe your experience at the Kleberg contributed to your own personal growth?

Joe Royce: From the standpoint of my relationship with Phi Delta Theta, it expanded my understanding of all that happens at the international level to assist individual chapters and undergraduates at large, and I hope that many others have the opportunity to participate as I did. As the Institute progressed, and as the students shared their experiences and issues, I found myself participating in the dialogue rather than merely observing, and it gave me a chance to address some issues in a frank and straightforward manner. ■

Welcome Our New Team Members

Foundation Trustees

Brian D. Dunn, Cornell '77, has consulted to the financial services industry for over 30 years and has run and grown many businesses. He is the CEO of Aon Hewitt's global performance, Rewards & Talent (PRT) business—a $500 million company, with over 1,000 employees based in North America, Europe and the Middle East. Brian also serves as chairman of McLagan, one of the PR&T's operating units where he formerly served as president and CEO. Under Brian's leadership, McLagan's revenues quadrupled through product, client and geographic expansion throughout Europe, Asia and the Middle East.

Beyond his management responsibilities, Brian continues to serve as one of the financial service industry's leading executive compensation consultants. As a board advisor, Brian's counsel has focused on strategic HR management issues, including CEO transition, attracting and retaining senior line executives, performance assessment, and board governance; and executive pay design, focusing on annual and long-term incentive/equity plan design.

Brian received a bachelor of science degree with honors from the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University in 1977 and an M.B.A. with highest honors from the Cornell University Graduate School of Management in 1981. Brian lives in New Rochelle, New York.

His service to Phi Delta Theta includes Leadership Consultant (1977–79), Community Service Day Chairman (1982–84), and as a member of the EVP Search Committee in 1989.

Thomas Harper III, Texas '68, started in commercial banking in 1969 in New York City and spent 13 years at executive levels with major banks headquartered in NYC and Houston, Texas. Mr. Harper also spent 12 years in the energy industry in Houston with Torch Energy Advisors' Institutional Funding Group. In December, 1998, Mr. Harper reorganized and recapitalized a privately owned professional services firm, The Procurement Centre (TPC), which specialized in providing contract procurement and materials management professionals and consultants to the energy industry. In August, 2005, Mr. Harper joined Wellogix, Inc. as vice chairman, director and investor and assisted with recapitalizing the company.

Mr. Harper graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1968 with a degree in finance. While at UT he became a member of Texas Beta Phi Delta Theta Fraternity and also a UT Football Letterman. Since 2005 he has served as president of the UT Phi Endowment Fund, House Corporation for Texas Beta, Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Mr. Harper is director of the Spirit Golf Association (SGA), a nonprofit 501 (c) (3) organization, that promotes golf for philanthropic purposes which includes supporting the First Tee Program, sponsoring The Spirit International Amateur Golf Tournament. He is also a member of the President's Advisory Council, University of Houston Downtown, a director of the Houston SPCA, chairman of the Houston SPCA's $35 million Capital Campaign and a former member of The University of Texas at Austin Fine Arts Advisory Council.

Development Officer

Allan Williams is a 2010 graduate of Ashland University where he majored in journalism and public relations. While at Ashland University, Allan was involved throughout campus life as an RA, intern for Residence Life, VP of Fraternity Affairs for IFC and chapter president. After his undergraduate years, Allan attended Bowling Green State University and received a masters in college student personnel.

Most recently, Allan worked as an assistant director of Residence Life at Otterbein University. Allan and his wife Mandy live in West Covina, California. Allan works with the Phi Delta Theta Foundation as a development officer with a focus on the West Coast. ■

General Council President Rich Fabritius discusses future plans for Phi Delta Theta

By: Rob Pasquucci

Rich Fabritius, Kent State '94, was elected president of the General Council during the June General Convention. The Scroll sat down with brother Fabritius to discuss the new General Council's plans for the biennium.

Like most, if not all, of our General Council members, you've spent a lot of time giving back to the organization before becoming president. Can you recall when you decided you wanted to become a volunteer?

"It was when I was an undergraduate. I give all the credit to Jim Warner, who was involved at Ohio Epsilon just down the road from us. My world, at the time, revolved around Kent State. At first I didn't understand why an Akron guy would even care about what was happening at Kent. But, seeing how much joy and fulfillment Jim got out of his service, it planted the seed in my head that Phi Delt is bigger than your campus. He inspired me to volunteer after graduation.

Who are some of your Phi Delt heroes?

I've got a lot, really too many to mention here, but Bob DeLoian jumps to mind. He put the issue of Alcohol-Free Housing on his back. I was on [GHQ] staff when that happened, and the concept of AFH in our organization was so hard to visualize. Just him and that board's courage left a lasting impression on me. Dr. D gets most of the attention for that decision but the whole Board deserves credit for their courageous leadership—he'd tell you that first thing. I think about that Board's strength and I hope we can emulate their efforts.

What would you suggest to a member who wants to do his part to make the organization better?

Use Phi Delt as it as it was intended to be used. I'm not sure what my life would look like if it wasn't for Phi Delta Theta. Those six guys on that Miami campus realized we can and should make each other better. If you can create an environment that supports and nurtures each other, challenges each other and holds each other accountable, you can do amazing things.

It's an old cliché, but what you put in you get out. The people who get the most out of Phi Delta Theta are those who put the most into it. I see that every day with the incredible volunteers we have and the undergraduates who are doing amazing things on campuses across North America. It's really cool to see the positive affects of Phi Delta Theta in people's lives. It's so simple but yet so profound.

Your speech at Convention discussed the idea of swinging a heavier bat. What does that mean, in practice?

I believe that the brilliance of our six founders was the concept of supporting and challenging one another. The idea of swinging a heavier bat is the idea that each of us needs to push to be just a little better. If we dig in we can do great things. As I look at our legacy and our position in the fraternity world, it would be easy to become complacent. So the concept of my speech, drawing on the baseball analogy, is a call against complacency, it's a call against the status quo. I hate the status quo.

Sitting with the General Council at the 2014 Convention

So, despite our recent successes, we still have work to do?

We have the opportunity to distance ourselves from the competition. I'm a competitive person, going back to my days as a hockey player, so I think now is the time to press even harder on the gas pedal. I believe we are the finest organization of its type in existence but I also know that we can be even better. We'll never be perfect. But we are damn good and we can and will improve.

... the brilliance of our six founders was the concept of supporting and challenging one another. The idea of swinging a heavier bat is the idea that each of us needs to push to be just a little better.

Rich with wife, Heather, and daughters, Austin and Reese

Talk a little bit about family and fraternity—those two things are very important to you.

When we talk about our volunteers, we talk about the service these guys give, but we don't talk enough about the support they get from family, friends and work. For me, I know the sacrifices my wife and children make so that I can support this organization.

We owe it to our support systems to let them know that they are recognized and appreciated. I don't know how many choir performances or gymnastic practices I've missed because my wife doesn't remind me. She doesn't remind me because she knows the man she's married to was shaped, in many ways, by Phi Delta and I owe the organization a debt of gratitude.

"I'm blessed by the support I get from Heather and our two young daughters. I couldn't do this without them."

I'm blessed by the support I get from Heather and our two young daughters. I couldn't do this without them.

What are your goals for this biennium?

There are four main areas—housing, membership education, marketing and networking.

In the area of housing, first and foremost, we've hired a director of Housing and Facilities. He's going to bring a lot of new perspective to the table and is going to develop our strategy to drive pro-active management of our housing assets. That includes not only the houses we have but also support for those groups who want or need housing on campus.

General Council Retreat in Nova Scotia

Regarding membership education, I don't think you can ever take that off the table. It's incredibly important. We've got to be better in this area. If there's one organization in the North American college fraternity system that can hobble hazing and counterproductive activities, it's us... not to mention the ever-expanding and troublesome issues around sexual assault on campus...you want to talk about swinging a heavier bat? That's a heavier bat we must, and will, swing.

Another priority is continuing our momentum around creating a stronger and more effective marketing apparatus. We've never been very active in this area. We've had some recent success like the investments we made in the brand positioning, the new website and communicating directly with incoming freshmen about membership. But we are going to need to build on these wins. It's all a part of trying to enhance our sophistication around marketing.

One of our inherent strengths as an organization is the networking opportunities that abound for our members. We must leverage technology to connect alumni and undergraduates alike to aid them both in career searches and professional advancement. We are actively evaluating our options in this area and know we have the ability and resources to make it happen.

In the end, it is a testament to the health of Phi Delta Theta that we can even focus on such proactive measures. It's a luxury we cannot take for granted. Most other fraternities are hampered by lawsuits or other distractions. Not us. Not Phi Delt. ■

Feet on the Ground and Phis in the Sky

By Dani Barto, GHQ Communications Intern

Imagine walking onto the Indianapolis Speedway on a warm June day more than a century ago—not to see cars speeding around a racetrack—but some of the world’s first airplanes flying through the air. Famous Phi James Clifford Turpin, Purdue 1908, made his mark on history as an aviation pioneer as member of the Wright brothers’ exhibition flying team, which performed that day at the speedway.

Since the 19th century Phis have made their careers in flight. Among the earliest to do so was Famous Phi William F. Durand, Michigan State 1880, the first civilian chair of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the forerunner of NASA.

During World War II over 20,000 Phis served their countries in battle, many as aviators and servicemen in the armed forces. Phi Delta Theta thanks veterans from all armed conflicts for their service and honors the memories of those brothers who entered the Chapter Grand while serving their country.

Soon after the war came Neil Armstrong, Purdue 1955, Commander of Apollo 11 and the first man to walk on the moon. The list of greatness goes on, but nothing makes Phi Delta Theta greater than the men who honor it today.

Brothers grace every aspect of the aviation industry with their integrity and commitment to excellence. From the ground to the sky, Phis work as airplane mechanics, commercial pilots, Air Force flight crew, and more.

Retired Air Force Captain and Vietnam veteran Philip C. Beekley, Ashland '69, explained that, though Phis are spread all over the world, they are united in “the common bond of The Bond, in addition to aviation.”

David Meierotto, Iowa Wesleyan '98, the campus executive director for the Aviation Institute of Maintenance in Dallas, Texas, also spoke of the closeness that is inspired by the bond, especially after graduation.

“Fellowship and brotherhood grow stronger the older you get,” Meierotto said. “I now cling to and look for those connections.”

Michael Juhl, Embry-Riddle '08, a commercial pilot for Allegiant Air, said that he typically sees Phis multiple times per week, many in passing at airports and others at specific aviation events.

With a large number of pilots retiring soon, Juhl said there will be a great deal of openings for aviators entering the industry.

“If you’re lucky the airlines hire about 50 pilots per year,” Juhl said, adding that after these looming retirements the airlines will hire about 900 people in a year.

“I think it’s always going to be a stable career path compared to others,” Beekley said.

Meierotto noted that a future for aviators with their feet on the ground is wide open, also due in part to a substantial amount of retirements on the horizon.

“Many want to hang up their wrenches,” Meierotto said, “leaving more and more opportunities open.”

Even in this hugely passionate industry, Meierotto said that there are more airplane mechanic positions open than certified people to fill them.

According to Meierotto, the best thing for undergraduate Phis to do is to, “Look into their options. Take off their blinders of what they think aviation is.”

A new way to connect with fellow Phis in aviation began with John Fazzini, Florida '66, the owner and developer of Ridge Landing Airpark. After graduation Fazzini found that it was difficult to stay in touch with his brothers.

“We say ‘Phi Delta Theta for life,’ but I just noticed that in Florida Alpha everyone kind of went their own way,” Fazzini said. “Phi Delta Theta has lifelong values of friendship, but in reality after graduation it’s tough, everyone goes into their own field.”

“You go from boys to men together,” Fazzini said, but then “there’s this disconnect that takes place.”

Fazzini kept in contact with one brother from Florida Alpha and always felt blessed by that friendship. However, he was not content to leave the bond he had with his other brothers in the past.

“It started with the fact that I owned some airplanes,” Fazzini said. After letting some people fly the planes, Fazzini decided to create a LinkedIn group for Phis involved in aviation.

The Phi Delta Theta Aviation Group is now made up of more than 130 members, including younger members who are able to ask questions and gain job connections in the aviation field through the more experienced group members.

“I think what I had in mind was to bring brothers together in a common interest and Phi Delta Theta membership,” Fazzini said. “I can see being involved with the Fraternity in ways no one even knew were possible.”

Beekley, Juhl and Meierotto soon became members of the LinkedIn group, and have enjoyed the connections with other Phis that the social network has provided.

As a mechanic, Meierotto felt honored to be invited into the group, which was mostly made up of pilots.

“It all started when I got an invite from John Fazzini to join the group,” Meierotto said. “It’s just been a lot of fun.”

Beekley was also not a pilot, though he did some flying unofficially in Vietnam while he served as a flight crew member in the Air Force. It was an invitation from John Fazzini that brought Beekley into the LinkedIn group as well.

“The group added another value to my brotherhood, even though it’s all internet,” Beekley said.

Juhl was very impressed by the group’s networking ability and the supportive feedback he received from the brothers when he was searching for a new job.

“We’ve always been supportive,” Fazzini said. “In college you do anything for your brothers, and when you leave school you always have those feelings.”

“Through this group I was able to see and reconnect with someone I have not seen since 1964,” Fazzini said. “And I saw him on LinkedIn.”

Through connections made and friendships rekindled, a number of get-togethers have taken place with the members of the group.

One group member, Matt Lussier, Jacksonville '04, is the Airship Pilot at Goodyear. Lussier posted a standing invitation on the page for anyone who wished to come tour the Goodyear Blimp at their own convenience. Many Phis took him up on the offer, including both Fazzini and Juhl. The brothers enjoyed their time with fellow Phis and the opportunity to take in the impressive size of the Blimp.

Fazzini also mentioned a cook-out he had at Ridge Landing with a few brothers from the group, and what a great time it was.

Beyond the Heavens: A Chronicle of Phis in Flight

By Jay-Raymond N. Abad, UC-Irvine '02

There are many stories regarding members of Phi Delta Theta leaving their indelible footprints in various fields. Politics and sports often come to mind because of the several hundred famous Phis involved in those fields. The entertainment field is also popular because of the glitz and glamour, but there is a particular area among Phi Delta Theta famous alumni which is often overlooked: Air and space. In regards to the Fraternity and its prominent alumni, Neil Armstrong always comes to mind. However, the overall history of air and space is actually inextricably linked to Phis. They have become pioneers in this field.

The link between members of Phi Delta Theta and flight begins at the very beginning of human flight...

The aviation list developed was created through a call for information on the Fraternity's Facebook page this past July. It undoubtedly is not a complete list of Phis in the aviation industry.

"When you get together it's like stepping into a time capsule," he said. Fazzini has dreams of the group growing, beginning with an open invitation for all Phis involved in aviation to join the group.

"Something that has probably never been thought about before is that these groups are very influential in the lives of its members," Fazzini said. It is such a big world out there, he said, this LinkedIn group may be the best way to both become and stay connected.

To join the LinkedIn group, search "Phi Delta Theta Aviation Group," in LinkedIn and click "Join" in the upper right corner of the page. A request will be sent to John Fazzini to approve membership.

Another way to connect with other Phis through social media is the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity Facebook page. A post by the staff at General Headquarters requested information from Phis involved in aviation, and GHQ received a great number of responses. ■

Phi Delta Theta and the Society of the Cincinnati

Two enduring organizations that share common bonds

By B. Scott Johnson, Clemson '81

We should all be quite familiar with the events of late December 1848 in Oxford, Ohio, whereby a group of likeminded young men gathered together to form a bond to perpetuate the memory of their friendship and a shared collegiate experience that they hoped would transcend the years. Their experience had been shaped in part by their shared history of dealing with hardships at the hands of the college's administration and sometimes public opinion which had resulted in an “atmosphere [that] was gloomy and uncertain.” To all members who have accepted the precepts of The Bond of Phi Delta Theta, it seems only logical that these honorable young men would naturally have sought out and supported each other in the face of their shared adversity and devised a society to recall and keep alive their experiences with the generations that would follow in their footsteps. Their founding of Phi Delta Theta on 26 December 1848 gave birth to a Fraternity that has endured and prospered for 165 years and has touched the lives of over 250,000 young men.

Two generations before them, in 1783, the officers of the Continental Army found themselves in similar circumstances. The War for American Independence had persisted for eight long years and the hardships suffered by the army and its officers are well known. From the earliest days at Bunker Hill through to the surrender at Yorktown, the officers of the Continental Army had endured much and had received little in return. Even though their pay had at times been intermittent at best, the officer corps realized how much they had accomplished during the war and wanted to preserve the memory of the “vast event...[and]...the mutual friendships which...[were]...formed, under the pressure of common danger, and in many instances cemented by the blood of the parties.”

Phi Delta Theta and The Society of the Cincinnati both saw their genesis in times of great uncertainty and both sought to perpetuate the friendships, values and memories of the events born of those uncertainties. The Society of the Cincinnati is organized into constituent societies (chapters in the thirteen original states and France) and membership is held in the constituent society where your ancestor saw original military service or originally joined. Unlike Phi Delta Theta, membership in the society is inherited according to the rule of primogeniture (membership passes from father to eldest son) and in general only one descendant may hold hereditary membership in representation of the service of each propositus (ancestor). The Society of the Cincinnati, founded on 13 May 1783, has endured for 230 years with a current membership of over 4,000 men, living on six continents.

The Society of the Cincinnati and Phi Delta Theta also share common ground relative to geography. While there is no constituent society in the state of Ohio (the home of Miami University and the birthplace of Phi Delta Theta), the Society did play a major role in the early settlement of Ohio. Cincinnati began in 1788 as a settlement on the north shore of the Ohio River (opposite the mouth of the Licking River) and was initially named Losantiville. However in 1790, Major General Arthur St. Clair (an original member of The State Society of the Cincinnati of Pennsylvania) and the first governor of the Northwest Territory, changed the name to “Cincinnati” in honor of The Society of the Cincinnati. The Society takes its name from Lucius Quinctius Cincinnatus, the Roman general and dictator, who saved the city of Rome from destruction (in 458 BC and again in 439 BC) and then quietly retired to his farm. The Society honored the ideal of a return to civilian life by military officers following the War for American Independence rather than imposing military rule.

Matthew Gregory, Cincinnati Member, 1789

To this day, Cincinnati in particular and Ohio in general, is home to a disproportionately large number of descendants of Revolutionary War soldiers who were granted lands in the state as part of their pensions for service in the Continental Army. Additionally, nineteen of Ohio's 88 counties are named for Revolutionary War officers who were members of the Society of the Cincinnati or whose service qualified them for membership.

Like most fraternal organizations, Phi Delta Theta and the Society of the Cincinnati both have designated specific badges of membership to denote their members. To members of Phi Delta Theta, our badge (since 1849) with the familiar shield, enameled scroll being the Greek letters ( $\Phi\Delta\Theta$ ), sword (added as early as 1866, but not formally adopted until 1871), and all-seeing eye readily denote the wearer as a brother in the Bond. So too with the order or badge (often referred to as an eagle) of the Society of the Cincinnati. The Institution of 1783 specifically calls for an order (or badge) of membership:

“The Society shall have an Order, by which its members shall be known and distinguished, which shall be a Medal of Gold, of a proper size to receive the emblems, and suspended by a deep blue ribbon two inches wide, edged with white, descriptive of the Union of France and America.

The principle figure Cincinnatus, three senators presenting him with a sword and other military ensigns. On a field in the back ground, his wife standing at the door of their cottage, near it a plough and instruments of husbandry, round the whole Omnia reliquit servare Rempublicam. On the reverse - Sun rising, a city with open gates, and vessels entering the Port. Fame crowning Cincinnatus with wreath inscribed Virtutis Praemium. below, Hands joined, supporting a heart, with the motto Esto Perpetua. round the whole, Societas Cincinnatiarum, instituta AD 1783.”

Brothers in the Bond

A fraternity brother's diagnosis of Lou Gehrig's disease is helping me to rethink friendship

By Al Blanton, Mississippi State '98

I wear the pin.

In the fall of 1996 I made the decision to pledge a fraternity. At the time, I was a student at Mississippi State University and had never thought about joining a fraternity until a couple of actives in Phi Delta Theta showed up unexpectedly at my dorm room. My life hasn't been the same since.

In my three years as a fraternity man, I forged many great friendships and developed a few acquaintanceships, too. I learned to get along with people who looked differently, thought differently, acted differently. Fraternity life squeezed a social confidence out of me that I did not previously have, and helped my personality to exhibit its full plumage. Regardless of the vigor of those friendships, we all had one thing in common: we were Brothers in the Bond.

I have thought less and less about fraternity life and Phi Delta Theta as the years have gone by, and sadly I've lost touch with many of my brothers.

From time to time, I'll get an email from the current chapter president about the goings-on with Phi Delta Theta—a big Rush party, a roll-call of the new initiates, a grades-bragging dossier, etc.—some I'd open, others I'd gloss over. But on January 27, 2014, a subject line of one of those emails, CASINO ROYALE TO BENEFIT RALPH DOXEY, one of my own fraternity brothers when I was at Mississippi State, caught my attention.

Not knowing why Ralph would need a benefit in his honor, I nervously peeled open the email. It began, "Good evening brothers. We humbly ask for your prayers and support for one of our own and his family. Ralph Doxey (Bond# 195) was recently diagnosed with ALS (Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis), also known as Lou Gehrig's Disease."

My jaw nearly hit the floor.

Since Ralph was a freshman when I was a senior, I did not know Ralph well, but I always liked him. I was nearly certain that he had to endure some of my light "hazing" that a cocksure active commanded.

I remembered his graveled, raspy voice, his sheared head before sheared heads were cool, his sideburns, and his affinity for the outdoors.

As I continued to get updates on this event, I continued to feel the need to reach out to Ralph. So one day I added him on Facebook and asked if I could do a story on him. Ralph was very accommodating and agreed to an interview at his home in Tupelo, Mississippi.

As I was preparing for the interview, I wondered how far his disease had progressed, how he would look, and if he'd need to ask his wife to help him through the questions. The night before I left, I did some research on Lou Gehrig's disease. The same disease that long ago took the humble Yankee slugger is characterized by muscle weakness and atrophy, and the median survival rate with people diagnosed with ALS live only 36 months. Principally, there are two types of ALS: Limbar onset (affecting the arms and legs) and Bulbar onset (affecting speech and swallowing). Either diagnosis eventually funnels to the inability to control voluntary movements, and most patients die of respiratory failure. Early symptoms include difficulty swallowing, twitching muscles, cramping, and garbled speech.

What made this story even more ironic is that Lou Gehrig was once a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity when he was a student-athlete at Columbia University. The oldest t-shirt I have in my possession (it's so old it's almost turned into wheat) is from Bid Day 1996; on the back is a picture of Gehrig giving his famous "Luckiest Man" speech and a quote, "Today I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of the earth." I always thought it both odd that a man nicknamed the "Iron Horse" who wouldn't dare miss a day of work would eventually succumb to an early death, and inspiring that the same man who had been given a proverbial death sentence would consider himself so lucky.

Considering all this, I nosed my vehicle in the direction of Tupelo on a snowy morning to see Ralph Doxey. Coming into town, I exited and found the furniture showroom where Ralph had suggested we meet. He pulled up in his truck and when he spotted me, he leaned forward with an arm propped on the steering wheel and cracked a smile. I smiled back as I approached the car and closed the ten-year gap between us. When he spoke, I could tell a definite change had occurred in his speech; there was a laborious cadence that I will admit saddened me.

I followed him through four miles of Mississippi thicket, to his home in the country, amid bucolic hills and 17 acres of pasture. As we pulled into his drive, the sun glimmered across the pond like iridescent diamonds, and a little dog jogged up to meet us. We went inside, and just as I was sitting down in the kitchen, Ralph's wife Megan introduced herself, kissed Ralph, and headed back to work. After Megan left, we sat and Ralph told me his life.

I found out Ralph has been a firefighter for 14 years, and that his wife is pregnant with their first child. They were married in July 2011 in a beachside ceremony in Hawaii, complete with leis, a native preacher inked with a forearm tattoo, and a plunge by the couple (wedding dress and all) into a waterfall-decorated tropical slough.

Ralph first noticed symptoms right after the couple moved back to Tupelo from Asheville, North Carolina, where he worked to put out wildfires. "My left shoulder started twitching real bad," he said. "I just thought it was stress." He initially dismissed it, but then his left arm began to twitch nonstop and his father-in-law soon noticed a change in his speech. "He said, 'What's wrong with you? You been drinkin'?" Ralph said. "He thought I was drunk." (As an aside, and with Ralph's own Southern sense of humor, he grumbled, "I sound like I'm hammered all the time.").

Ralph's brother-in-law suggested that he see a neurologist, so the couple scheduled an appointment with a local doctor in Tupelo. "They did a blood test and everything was fine. Then they stuck needles in me and did this thing where they shocked my hands," Ralph says. It took several foreboding months for the diagnosis, but nonetheless it came in May 2013: Bulbar-onset ALS.

Since then, Ralph has his quarterly appointment with the doctor and is taking a litany of meds and nutrients: Vitamin A, magnesium, potassium, salt. One such prescription he has to take 13 times a day, and he recently was prescribed a new medicine that will help him pronounce his K's, G's, P's, and B's. He describes the taste of one concoction in words that cannot be repeated in this essay, but says that if he doesn't take it, he shakes nonstop.

"My soft palate stopped working. I can't eat bread anymore, my voice is all screwed up, and it's hard for me to swallow," he says.

He does not exercise for fear that his muscles will wear out, but continues to work 24-hour shifts as a firefighter, five times a month at the Toyota plant. He still likes to hunt and fish and do yard work, and you would get the sense that he's not tremendously worried about anything. Instead he relies on faith.

"I've got to turn it over to my faith. This is not my plan. This is God's plan. Who am I to argue with that?" he says. Tacked on their refrigerator, amid a montage of photographic moments of Ralph and Megan's time together, is a Bible verse written in pen—1 Thessalonians 5:15–18, which says, "Make sure that nobody pays back wrong for wrong, but always strive to do what is good for each other and for everyone else. Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus."

Ralph and I talked about the moment he found out he had ALS.

"Were you angry?" I asked him.

"Naw," he says. "Since it took a while to get diagnosed, I had already adjusted my mind to it. The only thing I regret is that people are going to have to take care of me nonstop."

Ralph admits since being diagnosed, he has done a lot more fun things with his wife and friends. "Megan and I go out to eat a lot more. We go to Oxford and Jackson and hang out with friends. We have friends over to the house, fry up some catfish and swim. We want to have as much fun as we can while we can," he says.

But it's not all fun and games. Ralph and Megan understand they have a battle to fight. They have watched a few videos and are brushing up on their knowledge of the deadly disease. Ralph even bought a book on Lou Gehrig, entitled The Luckiest Man, but admits he's had a hard time reading it since he's a Red Sox fan. "Megan and I aren't focusing on the problem, but how to treat it. Megan's tougher than I am and we've had a lot of support from family and friends," he says.

One such friend is John Genin, an attorney in Jackson, who was Doxey's pledge brother at MSU. "When his pledge brothers found out about Ralph's diagnosis, we wanted to do something to help. I reached out to Carter Lawyer, chapter president, to see if the undergrads would be on board. Twenty seconds into the conversation, Carter said 'absolutely we'll help, it's a no brainer,'" says Genin.

The event, which was held on March 21, 2014 at the Hotel Chester in Starkville, Mississippi, was a "casino-themed" fundraiser, and all proceeds benefit Ralph and Megan's fight against ALS.

Other weekend events included a MSU baseball game, a silent auction, and an active/alumni golf tournament.

"We have been humbled by the response of our undergrads, alums, parents, and friends who have shown such strong support for Ralph and his family," Genin says. "We have guys coming in from all over, as far away as California. Some haven't been back to campus since they graduated. People sometimes ask, 'What's so great about fraternities?' There are a lot of good answers, but this is the heart of it."

As Ralph and I are sitting in his kitchen recounting bygone stories of fraternity life and all of the knuckleheads we had the chance to meet, he says to me, "Do you remember when you made me, Wes, and Andrew run around sorority row in dresses and wigs?"

I let out a rocket of laughter.

"I did?"

"Oh yeah. We had to go knock on doors and ask if they needed a houseboy," he said with a smile.

"Did they need one?"

"None of 'em did," he said.

"Did they laugh?"

"Yes."

"Well, I just didn't want you guys to take yourself too seriously," I explained.

Last night in preparation for writing this essay, I pulled out the old blue relic, everyone's favorite The Manual of Phi Delta Theta for pledges (also known as Phikeias). I was actually taken aback at all of the great and deep things that that manual highlighted, things I somehow missed so many years ago. The manual begins:

Few experiences in a man's brief time in this world are more important to him than those shared with his closest friends. Whether it is the seeming drudgery of daily routine or seeing new and exciting places for the first time, having comrades with him makes these times special now and will preserve memories for the distant future. This is the essence of fraternity life. Brotherhood is a word that defies definition to those inexperienced in Greek life.

This might seem quite odd to some of you, as the term "fraternity" is often associated with band parties, binge drinking, cavalier lifestyles, and long-haired, North Face-wearing dandies that say "dude" all the time. But as I perused this manual, flipping page after page, I realized the kinds of things the fraternity was trying to build, instill in people like me. Our three cardinal principles at Phi Delta Theta are friendship, sound learning, and rectitude; although I'm not sure I succeeded admirably in any of those arenas as a pledge or active.

Now, as a man, I see the importance of friendship. I see the bond that was built all those years ago between a group of guys who endured the mirth and travails of Greek life. Unlike regular friendship, a fraternity brother will always be a brother; we'll always have a common bond, and as Genin says, "deep threads" of influence that rope us eternally together. The term "fraternity brother" is a close association, a lifelong effort, and an opportunity to share and grow through the imperfections and outstanding qualities of men. Boys who travel through these frontiers of friendship are in the process of shaping into men who will share and suffer together throughout life.

As I review my time as a fraternity man, I often have thought of the negative ways it affected me, of the man I became as a result of it. Now I see the many good things that have been borne of it, friendship remaining the pinnacle. I realize that it has benefited me more than it has taken from me, that the bonds of brotherhood still remain intact, and that the principles the founders of our fraternity wanted to instill in men who walked through their doors are not just lip-service to legitimize the booze-fest.

Just ask Ralph Doxey how he feels about his fraternity brothers.

I will say that I was not the best pledge, nor was I the best active, and in later life I have not been the best friend. Phi Delta Theta has given me more than I have given to it. I admit so ashamedly.

But I'm proud to say that I wear the pin. From here on out, I will do my best until I'm buried to honor and support those men who shared a bond with me for three challenging years of my life.

For perhaps the first time, I wear the pin with pride. I appreciate the azure and argent flag, the oaths, the sword and shield, the coat of arms, and the men who comprise it. And I'm happy to say that I have been blessed. I'm happy to say that I'm a Brother in the Bond. I wear the pin.

I am a Phi. ■

Anthony Fusco with his father pitching the final 10 balls

Swing for the fences: Phi Delt alumnus completes feat for ALS research

By Phillip Millar, The Volante

With his batting gloves bloodied and Lou Gehrig's famous speech playing in the background, Anthony Fusco's father took to the mound to pitch the last 10 softballs before a flood of emotions rushed through Fusco, bringing him to tears.

Fusco was in pain.

"It was an overwhelming moment," he said. "I had planned all summer for this."

Fusco is a University of South Dakota Phi Delta Theta Fraternity alumnus and returned to campus in August to hit 2,130 softballs in honor of Lou Gehrig.

According to IronPhi.org, the mission of Iron Phi is to strengthen Phi Delta Theta through the fundraising and athletic efforts of its members. Specifically, Iron Phi raises both funds and awareness for ALS research. ALS took the life of Lou Gehrig, who was a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Fusco first came up with the idea to hit 493 softballs in honor of the amount of home runs Gehrig hit in his career. Fusco told his brother about the idea, who suggested Fusco should hit 2,130 softballs—the amount of consecutive games Lou Gehrig played.

In what was a moment of honor mixed with sibling rivalry, Fusco responded with two words: "Challenge accepted."

Fusco then started fundraising, raising $2026.50 for The ALS Association.

He started the challenge at 8 a.m. with festive moods all around at the USD softball complex—music was playing, people were watching and others were completing the Ice Bucket Challenge.

The pain of swinging a bat more than 2,000 times didn't start to affect Fusco until his swing tally reached four digits, he said.

"The first 900 felt like batting practice," Fusco said.

Raising money and awareness has picked up massive momentum recently due the ALS Ice Bucket Challenge. Celebrities and athletes, even USD President James Abbott, have participated in the challenge.

According to Forbes, The ALS Association has seen an 3,500 percent increase in donations due the Ice Bucket Challenge. In fact, The ALS Association said that they received $100 million during August alone.

"Now you're looking it up on the Internet," USD Phi Delta Theta President Nathan Iversen said. "You're talking to people about it. You're getting the word out."

The Phi Delt chapter at USD has its own ways to raise money for The ALS Association. They host an annual chislic feed with donated food, charging $5 at the door. Phi Delt raised $1,800 at their most recent chislic feed and the money from this event and various other small projects goes to the Walk to Defeat ALS held in Sioux Falls.

It took about six and a half straight hours of hitting softballs for Fusco to finish his challenge.

"When I actually raised the money then I realized what I had to do," Fusco said.

When he finally lined up and the swing tally rose, so did Fusco's pain. Eventually, his hands had to be rewrapped to prevent his third layer of skin being rubbed away.

After more swings and more pain, Fusco's dad finally came to the mound to deliver the last 10 pitches. Fusco's dad pitching brought forth nostalgia for his younger days in Ohio, when his dad would pitch batting practice in the front yard.

"It brought my childhood right before my eyes," he said.

After a swing-filled day, Fusco hydrated and slept, leaving the wounds to heal.

"This will heal. ALS, apparently, you can't heal from." ■

Expansion Update

Phi Delta Theta's expansion program continues to succeed. With a goal of reaching 200 chapters by 2020, Phi Delta Theta is well on its way to achieving this goal.

Colonizations

Florida Xi-Florida Gulf Coast University

Colonized: September 28, 2014 | Installation scheduled: TBD

Number of Colony Members: 64

On September 28, 2014, 74 men at Florida Gulf Coast University stood together as they each waited to be pinned and become the Founding Fathers of the Florida Xi Colony. In attendance were several Phi Delta Theta alumni, sorority representatives from FGCU and Florida State University, and many friends and family. Colony President Randy Ward accepted the plaque and said a few words about what is to come of the colony, expressing the group's excitement to be welcomed into the expanding Greek community at the University.

Leadership Consultants Zach Hilliard and Tucker Barney worked at FGCU for six weeks to recruit the 74 Founding Fathers and begin the foundation of what is sure to be a very impressive colony.

The past two months have been both busy and exciting as the Founding Fathers spent time together getting to know each other and creating a special bond within the group. The Florida Xi Colony of Phi Delta Theta is coming on to the FGCU campus as one of the largest organizations with one of the highest GPAs.

Missouri Iota-Lindenwood University

Colonized: November 1, 2014 | Installation scheduled: TBD

Number of Colony Members: 26

On November 1, 2014, 26 gentlemen began a legacy at Lindenwood University in Saint Charles, Missouri. These men were officially recognized as Founding Fathers of the Missouri Iota Colony. In the crowd sat current Phis from chapters around the area, members from the other Greek organizations at Lindenwood and friends and family members of the men. Province President Josh Hanley, who is working with Missouri Iota, extended the floor to Colony President Samuel Horstmeier. Samuel accepted the kind statements and spoke about how the group is ready to make an impact on the Greek community at Lindenwood and how excited he is that they are ready to become a colony and pursue their destiny of becoming the greatest versions of themselves.

Former Leadership Consultant Michael Boulter and current Leadership Consultant Andrew Carlson were the first to begin the recruitment process in late spring semester of 2014. Thanks to their hard work and dedication, they developed the foundation for what will continue to be a successful group of young leaders, who will go out and impact the world. As a whole, the colony has been working hard to better the campus of Lindenwood by doing community service projects, winning intramural championships and competing in Greek Week.

Since late August, the colony has had many long nights and extended meetings, bettering themselves as men and as brothers of Phi Delta Theta by developing the groundwork which will keep their group in the top tier of Greek organizations on campus. The group has had many brotherhood events and social events while getting to know the community better and hosting activities to grow campus relations. The Missouri Iota Colony currently has one of the highest GPAs on campus and is one of the largest fraternities to reach this level.

Iowa Delta-Drake University

Colonized: December 4, 2014 | Installation scheduled: TBD

Number of Colony Members: 31

On December 4, Phi Delta Theta colonized the 31-member Iowa Delta Colony at Drake University after eight weeks of recruitment and development from Leadership Consultants Zach Hilliard and BJ Nelson. More than 30 alumni from Drake University and the Des Moines Area Alumni Club welcomed the colony members along with family and friends from the University and Greek Community.

Province President Jay Longnecker presided over the colonization ceremony. Vice President of the Iowa Delta Colony Geoff Daley said that he was “excited to work with alumni and couldn’t wait to continue the once great tradition of Iowa Delta at Drake!”

Jan McMahon, dean of the College of Education and faculty adviser to the Iowa Delta Colony, attended the event and declared her excitement of once again working with the men of Phi Delta Theta. Several alumni, including some of the original Founding Fathers of the chapter, voiced their eagerness and excitement to meet the new men and to have the chapter back at Drake University. One of the men advised, “You may all be new colony members, and some even strangers to one another, but in 50 years you will look back and these men will be some of your best friends and family.”

The Iowa Delta Colony has a bright future and is excited to join the Greek Community at Drake University. The Colony would like to thank Province President Jay Longnecker for presiding over the ceremony and would like to express great appreciation to the committed alumni for their excitement and support.

Installations

California Zeta, California State University, Northridge

Installed: 1967 | Re-installed: May 24, 2014

Number of Brothers: 67

Installation weekend for the men of California Zeta at California State University, Northridge was like a dream come true. After two years of hard work, Phi Delta Theta initiated the newest brothers into California Zeta and the chapter regained its charter. The men of California Zeta understood the hard work that was needed to make this day happen, and it paid off.

The highlight of the initiation ceremony for many of the brothers was seeing then General Council President Chris Lapple pin his son Nicholas, along with other fathers pining their sons. The initiation was a special and emotional moment for the colony members who have dedicated themselves to Phi Delta Theta for two years.

Michigan Beta, Michigan State University

The installation banquet followed the initiation ceremony the next day. At the ceremony, Chris Lapple presented the chapter’s charter to President DeAndre Pierce. The brothers had the chance to pass the gavel and heard a speech by their chapter president.

California Zeta at California State University, Northridge was first founded on campus in April of 1967. The chapter has initiated 992 men.

Michigan Beta-Michigan State University

Installed: 1873 | Re-installed: October 17, 2014

Number of Brothers: 52

The newly initiated Phis of the Michigan Beta Chapter at Michigan State University are proud to be called brothers after being initiated and presented with their charter this past weekend. The re-installation banquet took place at the Union on campus at Michigan State University, and the chapter had the privilege of being joined by Michigan Beta alumni, families, university officials and other Brothers in the Bond.

The initiation and installation ceremonies were presided over by Brother Mike Scarletelli, a past president of Phi Delta Theta’s General Council. During the installation ceremony, Brother Scarletelli presented the charter to Chapter President Alex Green. The installation ceremony featured Province President Nat Love, Chapter Adviser Jere L’Heureux and Phi Delta Theta Associate Executive Vice President Sean Wagner as speakers. Phi Delta Theta’s Director of Expansion Michael Wahba was the emcee for the evening. Each participant commended the chapter for their accomplishments and spoke of the great impact that Phi Delta Theta has made in their lives.

Since colonization in December of 2013, the Michigan Beta Chapter has had two successful recruitment periods and has gained a positive reputation for the many serenades that they have performed on campus. The chapter also claimed first and second place in two Greek Week events while raising money for The ALS Association and the American Cancer Society. In addition to these accolades, the chapter had a brother win Delta Gamma’s Anchorman competition.

With the help of their great alumni, Michigan Beta has re-acquired their original chapter house that was built in East Lansing at 626 Cowley. With plans to move into the chapter house next fall, the chapter is well on its way to success at Michigan State.

North Dakota Alpha-University of North Dakota

Installed: 1913 | Re-installed: October 11, 2014

Number of Brothers: 44

The brothers of North Dakota Alpha were initiated Brothers in the Bond and officially re-installed as a chapter at the University of North Dakota. The recognition and banquet for the initiation of the 44 brothers was held at the The Grand Historic Event Center in Downtown Grand Forks, North Dakota. The night was focused on the remembrance of the past year and the importance of “guarding against elation,” as Brother Morrison so poignantly stated.

North Dakota Alpha, University of North Dakota

Both the initiation and installation ceremonies were presided over by General Council Treasurer Jeff Davis, who officially presented the charter to Chapter President Sean McClain.

Brother Davis encouraged the brothers to continue working towards their dreams. He gave an excellent speech that touched on how Phi Delta Theta is where a young man can go to learn about entrepreneurship, marketing, management, culture, philanthropy, service and their own dreams as individuals. When North Dakota Alpha recapped the event in their first meeting as a chapter following installation, the brothers spoke about how impactful Brother Davis' comments were on how the most successful people in the world all had to make the office coffee at one point in their life.

The new Brothers in the Bond were joined by over 150 guests, including University of North Dakota administration officials, fellow UND Greek members, Phi Delta Theta brothers, parents, friends and North Dakota Alpha alumni.

Notable speakers at the ceremony included Dr. Cassie Gerhardt, assistant dean of students at the University of North Dakota, who spoke fondly of her undergraduate memories of North Dakota Alpha. Brother Nate Martindale, the North Dakota assistant attorney general emceed the event. Brother Martindale also read a letter from Brother Drew Wrigley, the North Dakota lieutenant governor. Brother Jim Satrom, president/CEO of PS Doors, also spoke on how excited the alumni and Varsity Bachelors Club of North Dakota Alpha are to be re-instated as a chapter of Phi Delta Theta. Over thirty North Dakota Alpha alumni attended the event from across the country, most notable was past editor of The Scroll Brother Jack McDonald, who participated in Friday night's ritual for the first time since 1962.

In less than a year since its colonization in December of 2013, North Dakota Alpha had two recruitment periods, an exceptionally strong community service program, outstanding involvement and leadership in student organizations and Student Government, superb public relations and high academic aptitude.

When it comes to the future of North Dakota Alpha, the men are determined and excited to move forward towards becoming the greatest fraternal organization on UND's campus. The men are focusing on the revival of a strong philanthropic program, centered on the Walk to Defeat ALS. They are currently planning the following: a monthly professional development seminar for the entire UND community, Chili Cook-Off and a city-wide ALS Raise Awareness Day. Their goals for the 2015 spring semester are the following: become a Knights of Pallas Chapter, raise $5,000 philanthropically, fundraise $3,500, surpass 1,500 community service hours, top overall Men's Fraternity GPA, 100% campus involvement, and to send no less than eight brothers to the 2015 Kleberg Emerging Leaders Institute.

California Chi-University of San Francisco

Colonized: 2013 | Installed: November 21, 2014

Number of Brothers: 52

The men of Phi Delta Theta at the University of San Francisco are honored to be recognized as official Brothers in the Bond. After nearly a year of hard work, the Founding Fathers of the California Chi Chapter were initiated on Friday, November 21. On the following day, a celebratory installation banquet took place at the Cliff House Restaurant, a historical and well-known restaurant amongst San Francisco and Bay Area residents.

The newly initiated brothers of the California Chi Chapter have worked tremendously hard over the past year to complete the requirements needed for installation. Without the hard work from Chapter President Henry Frisholz and Vice President Robert Yamell, the California Chi Chapter would not have accomplished everything it has today. Chapter members are very involved and hold positions in various organizations on campus such as ASUSF Senate and the department of Student Leadership and Engagement.

The California Chi Chapter has organized very successful events recently including socials and a philanthropic event that raised money for the YMCA. Additionally, the brothers have taken part in community service events at the local KROC Center, all while maintaining a higher average GPA than the all-male Greek and the all-male GPA averages at the University of San Francisco.

The chapter sends a special thanks to the exceptional Stephen Dunne and its CAB members for helping them with this exciting process. The California Chi Chapter plans on upholding their positive reputation on campus and looks forward to future success. ■

Josh Hamilton wins Lou Gehrig Memorial Award

Josh Hamilton of the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim received the 2013 Lou Gehrig Memorial Award on August 28, 2014 prior to the Angels taking on the rival Oakland Athletics. The award is presented annually by Phi Delta Theta to a Major League Baseball player who best exemplifies the giving character of Hall of Famer Lou Gehrig, a member of the Fraternity's Columbia University chapter. The award was first presented in 1955 and is permanently maintained at the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown, New York. On the field to present the award was General Council Treasurer Jeff Davis, True Blue Society Phi and Foundation Trustee Emeritus Jim Burra, Top 2013 Iron Phi Fundraisers

Kevin Carter and Tony Logan, Executive Vice President Bob Biggs, alumni Terry Adams and Chad Smith.

Off the field, Hamilton's story of triumph over drug addiction and his active role as a citizen in every community he has been a part of is well documented. After overcoming addiction issues, Hamilton has used his story, faith, and fame to support others. After the first overall selection in the 1999 June amateur draft, Hamilton emerged at the MLB level with the Cincinnati Reds in 2007 and, during a pre-game meeting at Great American Ball Park in 2007, shared his experiences with residents of Talbert House and with members of the Coalition for a Drug Free Greater Cincinnati. After the 2007 campaign, he was nominated for the Hutch Award, given annually to a major league player who exemplifies the fighting spirit and competitive desire of the late Reds Manager Fred Hutchinson, and was nominated in 2007 and 2008 for the Tony Conigliaro Award, given to the player who best overcomes adversity through the attributes of spirit, determination and courage. Josh established his Foundation, “Triple Play Ministries,” where he and his wife have worked to provide sports ministry, community outreach, and mission projects in a variety of endeavors. Triple Play has directed funds to Arise Africa in Uganda to build and orphanage for homeless children, and donated funds to relief efforts in Haiti following the earthquake as well as distribute turkeys and fixings for Thanksgiving dinners to families in need.

On the field Hamilton made his debut with the Cincinnati Reds and then played with the Texas Rangers from 2008–2012 before joining the Angels in 2013. He is a five-time MLB All-Star, three-time Silver Slugger award winner, 2010 AL MVP and AL Championship Series MVP, and has a lifetime .292 average with 675 RBI and 192 homeruns.

Hamilton is the first member of the Angels franchise to win the Gehrig Award. Current Angels First Baseman Albert Pujols received the award in 2009 when he was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals. More information about the award can be found at LouGehrigAward.org. ■

Friends rallying around teacher

Chad Smith, Southern Indiana '98, known across the Wabash Valley (Indiana) as a teacher and coach, was diagnosed with Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis, commonly referred to as ALS or Lou Gehrig's Disease.

Chad Smith attended the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award Presentation to Josh Hamilton in Ahaheim.

His community has rallied because they believe he "needs to have every minute he can to make moments count." Events of all kinds have been held to help bolster the family's ability to handle the financial burden that comes with living with the debilitating disease and to help build a bucket list fund.

"I am in awe of all of the support and generosity of the people in this community. I have made lifelong friends here and there are no words to say how appreciative I am of the opportunities they are allowing me to have with my family and my son," Smith said in a statement to The Brazil Times. One of those moments was attending the Gehrig Award Presentation with his son.

"My son will cherish these memories for all of his life."

"Our goal is to make it possible for him to do what he can for as long as possible."

Though tears have been shed, his friends and former colleagues explained that Smith has held a smile throughout this troubling time.

"If he were to walk into this room, he would have a smile on his face," his friends say. ■

Bruce F. Thompson, Minnesota '49
Passed away September 13, 2014 in Wayzata, Minnesota. Preceded in death by parents Fred and Alice (Olson) Thompson, and brothers Bing and Scott Thompson. Bruce grew up in St. Paul, Minn. and attended Murray High School. Attended the University of Minnesota at age 17 and graduated from the University of Minnesota Law School in 1951. Practiced law for 43 years in Minneapolis. Bruce began and helped grow what became Thompson Klaverkamp, into a successful and well respected firm eventually merging to become the Minneapolis office of Oppenheimer Wolff & Donnelly. He was president of General Council 1978–1980 and survey commissioner 1970–72. He made a life of respecting and helping others, whether through pro bono legal work, teaching moments with his kids or taking on the role of advisor and mentor to those who regularly sought him out, both in his professional and personal life. Survived by wife of 63 years Patty Thompson; daughter, Victoria (Henry) Miles; sons, Todd (Nancy), Tim (Debbie), Christopher (Rebecca), Peter (Barbara), 13 awesome grandchildren (Jessica Miles, Adam Miles, Amii (Chris) Pratt, Mathew (Jamie Oday), Nicholas, Tracy, Danielle, Patrick (Katie) Lashley, Ryan, Colin, Rachel, Christy and Katie) and seven great-grandchildren (Landon, Carson, DeJia, Kadence, Kian, Emma and Sara), sister Bea (Dick) Levey, sister-in-law Joan (David) Butler, nieces, nephews and close family friends.

Cary R. Buxton, Butler '73
Died on October 18, 2014 after a yearlong, courageous battle with cancer.

Cary attended Peterborough High School, where he was a three-sport player and co-captain of his teams from junior year on. Cary was voted 1969 class president, and he was proud to tell everyone that every five years his class held class reunions, resulting in strong friendships among his 92 classmates. Late in his high school junior year, Cary had an offer to attend Butler University in Indianapolis, Indiana. In 1973, he earned a BA degree in history/political science. His legacy at the university came as a co-founder of the Butler Soccer Club in 1971, which later became a Division 1 program at Butler University. He was initiated by Phi Delta Theta International Fraternity, which provided many positive and life-changing events in Cary's life.

Cary began his career as a chapter consultant for the International Fraternity headquartered at Miami University of Ohio, Oxford, Ohio. Later, he was training and coaching new consultants as he was promoted to director of chapter services, managing 145 chapters. He was province president 1978, 1986–1995, director of chapter services 1975–1977, and leadership consultant 1973–1975.

He later migrated to the South to try his hand at real estate in Buckhead, Georgia. He looked for a career where he could learn sales techniques, set goals and train others, and found Procter & Gamble. He held various positions—as a sales rep in Alabama, district rep in Atlanta, Ga., and unit manager in San Antonio, Texas. In 1993, Cary was selected region sales manager to bring a new product to market with Eastman Kodak in Dallas, Texas. He was asked to become the sales trainer in Atlanta, Ga., for newly hired sales reps and later returned to New Hampshire in 1997 as regional sales manager, Northeast. His final sales position, which he held for 12 years, was at Conway Office Solutions of Nashua. He was especially appreciative of Conway Office's offer to have him return to work on a full- or part-time basis after his spine surgery in July 2013.

Cary was a man of faith and called the Bedford Presbyterian Church his church home. Cary held many positions in the Bedford Community—most recently, board member, Bedford Babe Ruth. Cary was constantly reminded of a comment from President Bush, who said, “If you have not served your country in the military, there are other ways to help your country...especially as a volunteer in your community.” That resonated with Cary, and coaching youth soccer, basketball and baseball became his passion for 17 years. Most recently, Cary was proud to receive from the Bedford High School athletic director the “Unsung Hero” award, recognizing contributions to the high school as Booster Club member and community youth sports coach. Cary was manager of the 2005 Little League state champions who went to Bristol, Conn. While that team was two wins away from going to Williamsport, what was remarkable was not the winning, but for six years after, the same 12 kids provided community service to our Bedford Challenger Little League kids by offering a baseball clinic each spring to teach the Challenger kids baseball fundamentals. Cary was so proud of those young men.

Cary was a devoted husband to Marcia Buxton, his wife of 38 years, and a dedicated father to his son, Brice Buxton, Phikeia, Alabama.

Michael Connor, Northwestern '52

Michael passed away on July 12, 2014 after a short illness. Mike was born on April 11, 1933 to James and Edith Connor and spent his early years in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. He attended St. Vincent High School in Akron where he met and fell in love with his future wife, Patricia Denholm. After high school, Mike attended Northwestern University, earning a journalism degree from the Medill School of Journalism. He was active at Northwestern in a variety of leadership roles, including serving as president of student government and the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. Mike attended Northwestern on a Naval ROTC scholarship and upon graduation was commissioned in the United States Marine Corps. He earned his pilot wings at Pensacola Naval Air Station, was stationed at the Marine Corps helicopter base in El Toro, California and flew helicopters for the Marines throughout his time serving our country.

After the Marine Corps, Mike returned to his home town of Akron and joined The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. He spent the next 34 years at Firestone in the areas of advertising, marketing and public relations, eventually retiring as vice president of marketing services.

Mike was also an active community leader in Akron. During his impressive career, he served as chairman of the Akron Regional Development Board, president of the Akron Roundtable, president of the Board of Trustees of the Akron Golf Charities, and as a trustee for Akron City Hospital, the Akron Community Foundation, the Akron-Canton Regional Airport and the Sisler-McFawn Foundation. He was extremely active with professional golf in Akron having served as chairman of the American Golf Classic and, for many years, as the liaison between the PGA tour and tournament golf at Firestone Country Club.

Alvin Dark, Louisiana State '45

Alvin Dark, was the All-Star shortstop and captain of the New York Giants' pennant-winning teams in the 1950s and went on to manage the team to a pennant in San Francisco, died in November at his home in Easley, South Carolina. He was 92.

Dark played in three World Series, with the Boston Braves in 1948 and with the Giants in 1951 and 1954. He was the National League's rookie of the year in 1948, when he hit .322 and helped the Braves capture the franchise's first pennant in 34 years. He was the inaugural recipient of the Lou Gehrig Award in 1955 and served on the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award selection committee.

He was an All-Star three times as a Giant, had a career batting average of .289 with 2,089 hits in 14 seasons, and led N.L. shortstops in double plays three times. He teamed with second baseman Eddie Stanky, first with the Braves and then with the Giants, to form one of the finest middle-infield combinations of their era.

Dark was one of three superb shortstops in the decade after World War II — often called the Golden Age of New York baseball — along with the Brooklyn Dodgers' Pee Wee Reese and the Yankees' Phil Rizzuto. Both of them, unlike Dark, are in the Baseball Hall of Fame, although Dark had a higher career batting average and more power.

He managed the Giants to the 1962 pennant, and he managed the Oakland Athletics to the World Series championship 12 years later.

There's no such thing as a free lunch. Or is there?

How corporate matching gifts can double your support of Phi Delt Nation.

Did you know that many companies and other types of organizations have money set aside for the sole purpose of supporting the philanthropic generosity of their employees? It's true. It's helpful. And it's something for which the Phi Delta Theta Foundation qualifies.

Known as a matching gift, this form of giving happens when a donor makes a gift to a qualifying 501(c)(3) and the recipient (the Phi Delta Theta Foundation) then verifies the gift with the appropriate department at the corporation. Once verified, the corporation then sends a check for the same amount or more to the 501(c)(3). And voila! Your gift doubles in size and impact on future generations of Phis.

In 2013 alone, the Phi Delta Theta Foundation received $86,000 from matching corporate gifts. That's a lot of soup and salad.

Most corporations have a 1:1 match. That means your gift of $1,000 could turn into $2,000 total.

Here are some things to know about the process:

- 1. It starts with you. The Phi Delta Theta Foundation does not have access to employment information so it is up to you to initiate the process with your company. Most matching gift programs are managed through either human resources or the corporate foundation. Just contact them and let them know you want to initiate a matching gift. A form will be sent to the Foundation and we'll take it from there.
- 2. All matching gifts count toward your cumulative giving totals and donor recognition levels.
- 3. The scholarships and leadership development programs are what make the Phi Delta Theta Foundation a qualifying 501(c)(3). The Fraternity itself is a 501(c)(7) and, therefore, does not qualify for matching gifts.
- 4. The Phi Delta Theta Foundation is listed as a qualifying organization through United Way and the AmazonSmiles.com program.

For more information or assistance, please call the Phi Delta Theta Foundation at (513) 523-6966 or send an email to foundation@phideltatheta.org.

Thank you to the following corporations that have given matching gifts so far this year:

- Aetna Foundation, Inc.
- Ayco Charitable Foundation
- Bank of America Foundation
- BNSF Railway Foundation
- Charitable Gift Fund of Bank of America
- Citizens Financial Group, Inc.
- CLC Foundation, Inc.
- Cummins Equity Partners, LTD
- Fidelity Charitable
- First Data Foundation
- The Frat Collection
- GE Foundation
- Grainger
- Hyland Software, Inc.
- JPMorgan Chase Foundation
- Just Give
- KnowledgeWorks Foundation
- Koch Development Company
- MASCO Corporation
- MassMutual Financial Group
- Microsoft Matching Gifts Program

- The Prudential Foundation
- RPM Investments, Inc.
- Sandpiper Owners Association
- Scitor Corporation
- Shell Oil Company Foundation
- Thermo Fisher Scientific
- United Way, California Capital Region
- Vanguard Charitable Endowment Program
- VML Foundation

In addition to these corporations, several Phis elect to give through family or community foundations. While these gifts are not matching gifts, they are another flexible way to build the future of Phi Delta Theta. From charitable checking accounts to endowment funds, your community's foundation will have options for giving that are beneficial for you and Phi Delta Theta.
